The impeachment trial of Judge English probably will be postponed until next Fall, as the elections are much more important than the integrity of the Federal judiciary.

* * * *

This sets a pretty good example on The Hill and it is understood that Commissioner Fenning doesn't care how soon the House follows it.

* * * *

If Congress really wants to make a hit with everybody except a few Western farmers who are Populists in everything except whiskers, it'll apply this system of shirking responsibilities to the Haugen grab bill.

Aviators at Bolling Field bitterly complain that dogs worry them by snapping at the planes. Airedales, or Skye terriers?

It sure is too bad that the Yankees postponed dropping a game until after the Nats had left town.

"On the king's gate the moss grew gray;
The king came not. They call'd him dead;
And made his eldest son, one day,
Slave in his father's stead."

"The King is dead, long live the King!" Victor Napoleon follows the Pretender of Orleans into that state which levels all pretense, and the House of Bonaparte has a new L'Aiglon, aged 12, who will probably have to postpone his dream of majesty for quite a while and then some.

Speaking of "muddling through," England sure is in a muddle, but the trouble is that if she's through, so's the rest of the civilized world.

* * * *

Whoever keeps an open ear whenever the subject of suffrage for the District is broached will think he is listening to the trumpet of contention, all right—Dupont Circle folk, some of whom probably remember when local elections were kindly conducted for us by imported "plug-uglies" from Baltimore, and street brawls and rioting disturbed the legislative calm of the nation's lawmakers, indicate that the demand for the ballot in our town is by no means unanimous.

One wonders into how many millions Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt's losses would have run if ambition had inspired him to be the publisher of a string of adult newspapers.

* * * *

The Senate prudently eliminates from the $165,000,000 public buildings bill the provision which would have conferred upon the Secretary of the Treasury a blanket authority to spend the dough. Mr. Mellon doubtless would have expended the funds to better advantage than Congress, but the appropriating power has been such a powerful factor in the preservation of legislative liberty against executive encroachment since King Charles lost his head in a money argument, that it is worth retaining unimpaired.

So, Congress, take this tip from Bailey's muse:

"He hath no power that hath not power to use."

* * * *

The House will begin consideration today of the three politicians' relief bills recently reported by the Agricultural committee.

The Chicago court which instructs the special grand jury to forestall a reign of terror would be just the institution to assume the task of going around locking stable doors after the theft of the old gray mare.

The grandson of the grand old "Tiger" of France is deported from the United States like a common coolie, and yet some seem to think our absurd immigration law should be made more so.

Gentlemen on the well-known Hill who are contemplating asking the President to remove Commissioner Fenning from office are forgetting the Constitution, as usual.

LEADERS CONSIDER ADVISING PRESIDENT TO REMOVE FENNING

Charges Not Expected to Reach Impeachment Stage in House.

OFFICIAL REFUSES TO APPEAR AGAIN

Hoehling Indicates He Disfavors Extent of Commissioner's Practice.

With the way paved for the case of Commissioner Frederick A. Fenning to go back to the floor of the House, it became known yesterday that House managers are watching developments closely with a view to advising the President.

There were increasing indications that the charges against the commissioner will not go the full impeachment route. House managers feel that such a lengthy process should be confined to cabinet officers, Federal judges and the like. Should their study of the case convince them that there is enough substance in the charges, even to the extent of showing that he is not constituted to be a public official, it is their plan to advise the President to remove him from office.

Having to do with this attitude is the statement of one of the leaders yesterday: "It certainly looks pretty bad so far."

To Demand Appearance.

Members of the House veterans committee planned to present a resolution to the House asking for authority to demand the reappearance of the commissioner. This course turns upon the commissioner's refusal to reappear after having promised Saturday that he would be on hand. Representative Bulwinkle, ranking minority member on the committee, was instructed by a vote of 7 to 5, with Representative Irwin (Republican), of Illinois, joining with six Democrats, to submit the resolution to the House.

Previous to this action, Representative Royal S. Johnson (Republican), of South Dakota, chairman of the committee, took what is said to be the unprecedented action of refusing to submit such a resolution. Three Republicans, Representatives Irwin, Hale, of New Hampshire, and Rogers, of Massachusetts, voted with the Democrats on this motion. Only three Republicans, in fact, voted against the resolution. They were Mr. Johnson, and Representatives Montgomery, of Oklahoma, and Sweet, of New York.

Thinks 200 Cases Large.

Justice Hoehling, of the District Supreme court, last night left the impression with the House District subcommittee, headed by Representative Gibson, of Vermont, that he frowned upon the extent of Mr. Fenning's practice.

Mr. Gibson explained to him that the committee has learned that Mr. Fenning has some 200 wards, 94 of them world war veterans, and that from cases that are still current he has made $109,000, and asked him if he believed such a practice was "wise."

"It makes it possible for a situation such as you now have," Justice Hoehling replied. "I think that is a pretty large number."

He agreed with Chief Justice McCoy that every person should have a court hearing before being committed to an insane asylum. It has been developed that of the approximately 4,000 patients in St. Elizabeths hospital approximately half of them were committed on an order from a government department. This procedure is provided for in legislation enacted in 1875 relating to members of the military establishments and persons over whom the government considers it has sole jurisdiction.

Right to Hearing Upheld.

Chief Justice McCoy emphatically disapproved the procedure in his appearance before the committee Saturday, and last night Justice Hoehling said:

"I think every man ought to have the right of hearing."

Representative Blanton, of Texas, made his questioning of Justice Hoehling the medium of sharp criticism of Corporation Counsel Francis H. Stephens for what has been termed his "half-hearted" prosecution of the Capitol Traction Co. valuation suit. Justice Hoehling increased the valuation by $11,000,000.

T. J. LUCKETT ELECTED CAPITOL HEIGHTS MAYOR

J. R. Spates Victor in Rockville Mayoralty Contest; Davis Wins, 500 to 1.

COUNCILMEN ARE CHOSEN

Voters in nearby Maryland towns yesterday elected their local governing bodies.

Thomas J. Luckett was elected mayor of Capitol Heights in a contest over two others. He polled 123 votes against 90 for George Finger, present mayor, and 46 for Joseph R. Lare.

J. Roger Spates, a member of the Montgomery county bar, was elected mayor of Rockville, defeating W. Valentine Wilson, president of the Rockville Chamber of Commerce, and Charles G. Holland, the incumbent.

Ben G. Davis was chosen mayor of Takoma Park by a vote of 500 to 1, over William A. Hooker.

J. William Stohlman was reelected mayor of Somerset for a two-year term.

The vote in the Rockville election was Spates, 167; Wilson, 87, and Holland, 60.

Count of the votes cast in the Capitol Heights election was slow, due to the fact that there were 20 candidates, and in many instances the vote was close. George W. Nairn was elected town treasurer by a vote of 118 over Clinton G. Light, who polled 103.

Councilmen elected were Selig Posin, Harry L. Adams, Harry Wells, sr., George Tudge, Frank Lawrence and George Abbott.

Councilman Joseph L. Clagett and H. Worthington Talbott were reelected members of the city council of Rockville and J. Paul Burnett and E. Steadman Prescott were elected to the council in the places of Frank H. Higgins and Dr. Barrett P. Willson. Dr. Willson was not a candidate.

The Rockville election was the first town election in which women participated and a record ballot was cast.

Councilmen elected in Takoma Park were Charles V. Johnson, who received 453 votes; Edgar V. Crittenden, 414, and Marion D. Finch, 280. The term is two years.

Four of the five town commissioners of Bladensburg were reelected for two-year terms. The new member elected is W. C. Constantine, who won over Robert H. Hartley by a vote of 165 to 89.

PRINCE LOUIS, AT 12, FRENCH PRETENDER

Victor Napoleon Dies, Aged 64, at Brussels; Belgian Rulers in Mourning.

Brussels, May 3 (By A. P.).—Prince Victor Napoleon, Bonapartist pretender to the throne of France, who was stricken at his home here a few days ago, died today at the age of 64.

Prince Louis Napoleon, the son of Prince Victor, is the new pretender and now chief of the house of Bonaparte at 12 years of age. He will "reign" under the regency of his mother, born Princess Clementine of Belgium. This was the decision of the delegates of the political committee of the Bonapartist party of France, gathered at the bedside of Prince Victor, it was announced today. Prince Louis will go to England as soon as possible, where he will be put in school.

The king and queen of the Belgians decided that the court should go into mourning for 20 days.

TRIAL OF ENGLISH LIKELY TO BE HELD BY SENATE IN FALL

DENIES ALL CHARGES OF WRONG CONDUCT

House Given Until Tomorrow to Answer; Pleadings End May 10.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

The actual trial in the impeachment proceedings against George W. English, United States attorney for the Eastern district of Illinois, probably will not be held until next fall. This decision was tentatively reached by Senate leaders yesterday after the accused judge had appeared at the bar of the Senate and made reply, through a statement read from the desk, to the charges brought against him.

The managers of the impeachment on the part of the House of Representatives were given until tomorrow to file their replication and all pleadings must be in by May 10, according to a Senate resolution. The question of setting a date for the trial by the Senate sitting as a court will then be taken up and disposed of.

Pressing matters of legislation and the desire of senators to return to their constituents early in the summer, in view of the approaching campaigns, are back of the move for postponement of the trial. Those who favor an earlier trial have contended that it may be embarrassing for Judge English to continue on the bench until his case is disposed of, but this difficulty may be obviated by the judge's agreeing not to hear any more cases until the trial is over.

English Determined.

As a spectacle yesterday's proceedings were disappointing to the galleries. But there were two features which impressed the members of the Senate, now sitting as a court. First of these was the demeanor and apparent fighting spirit of the accused judge, and the second was the impression made by his defense.

The judge came into the chamber, accompanied by his three attorneys, William M. Acton, of Danville, Ills., home town of "Uncle Joe" Cannon; E. C. Kramer, and William F. Zumbrunn, who appeared as counsel for Senator Steck in his contest with Brookhart and also represented Senator Mayfield when the Texas senatorial contest was fought out.

The managers of the impeachment for the House had previously filed in and taken seats in advance of the front row on the Republican side of the chamber. They were Representatives Michner, Boises, Hersey, Stobbs, Summers, Montague, Tillman and Dominick. Representative Moore, of Ohio, was not present.

Judge English and his counsel took seats in front of the first row on the Democratic side. The judge is of medium build, clean shaven, rather florid complexion and appears to be in the prime of physical fitness. His eyes at times reflected signs of indignation. He appeared as much at ease as anyone else in the chamber.

Barry Opens Ceremony.

David S. Barry, sergeant at arms of the Senate, had the unusual task of ushering in the ceremonies. Later Mr. Barry had the task of standing before the judge and saying:

"George W. English, George W. English, George W. English, United States district judge for the eastern district of Illinois, appear and answer to the charges against you!"

The quaintness of the ceremony was marred by the present-day customs of the Senate. The command was for silence, but there was so much commotion while the judge's reply was being read that Senator Shipstead arose and asked the Vice President to insist upon order in the chamber. Before the reading of the judge's defense had been concluded, the majority on both sides of the chamber had gone out to lunch. The galleries had begun to thin out long before the reading was concluded.

Judge English, who was appointed by former President Woodrow Wilson, and assumed office on May 3, 1918, is charged with usurping authority, with tyrannical conduct on the bench and other specified acts of misbehavior. His reply to

Uniformed Dry Agents To Patrol Two States

Philadelphia, May 3 (By A. P.).—A group of dry agents brought to this city by the new administrator, Frederick C. Baird, found local saloons running "wide open," Capt. Yates D. Fetterman, deputy administrator, said today.

The agents, designated as "undercover men," arrived late Saturday, he said, and immediately went to work. They will continu to gather evidence of violations.

Thomas J. Cavanaugh, chief aid to Administrator Baird, announced that uniformed enforcement patrolmen, mounted on motorcycles, will be seen throughout eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey soon.

"The men will be in uniform," he said, "so there will be no doubt as to their official standing. They will wear slate cord outfits, leather puttees and carry pistols. These patrolmen will drive motorcycles with side cars and will be used in raids and general patrol work."

$9,500 LEFT ON A DESK MAY BE LIQUOR BRIBE

Captain of Marine Police at New York Reports Finding Money in Envelope.

RECORDS ON SEIZED SHIP

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, May 3.—What is believed to be the trail leading to discovery of the higher ups implicated in the $500,000 rum ship that slipped into New York harbor and up the river to Yonkers last week will be taken up by the Federal grand jury for May when it is sworn in tomorrow, Assistant Federal Attorney Harlan announced today.

Harlan admitted he has had several conferences with Police Commissioner McLaughlin since the discovery of a plain envelope containing $9,500 on the desk of Police Capt. Hugo O. Wunsche last Thursday morning, the same day the alcohol ship Eker sailed up to Yonkers before its rich cargo was discovered by customs guards.

Capt. Wunsche reported his find to the commissioner and Chief Inspector Lahey was put in charge of the investigation. Assistant Attorney Harlan said the inquiry would be taken over entirely by the Federal government. He has received complete cooperation from the police, he said, and would present the evidence to the Federal grand jury.

It was reported officials have been working on the theory that this money is connected with the list of names found on board the Eker as recipients of large sums of money. Most of these were unnamed powers who might have been able to assist in passing the vessel up the river. Two of the items recorded payment of $8,500 "To P. D. Captain," and $8,500 to "P. D. Cops."

Severe Quake Is Felt In Ventura, Calif.

Ventura, Calif., May 3 (By A. P.).—A severe earthquake shock of between 10 and 15 seconds' duration was felt here at 5:45 o'clock this morning.

The quake, which was immediately preceded by a low rumbling sound, was of sufficient severity to cause persons who had not already arisen to leave their beds.

A light quake also was felt in Santa Barbara at 5:45 this morning.

SAFE BLOWERS TAKE $15,000 IN JEWELRY

Store of Gem Merchant in Investment Building Is Robbed.

Jewelry valued at more than $15,000 was stolen from the store of Jamees C. Lynn, retail jeweler, in the Investment building some time between Saturday night and yesterday morning. The burglars entered the store by sawing out the lock on the door.

Using a charge of nitroglycerin the thieves blasted the door from the safe in the office and escaped with the jewelry. Furniture in the office was broken and twisted by the force of the explosion. A large strip cut from the carpet in the office was used to muffle the sound of the blast.

Miss Dorothy Warther, 3902 Wisdom street northwest, an employe at the store, discovered the robbery when she reached the office yesterday morning. The thieves did not disturb jewelry in other parts of the store, but took everything from the safe. Police believe the work was done by a gang of safe crackers who have been operating in this city for some time. Inspector Henry Pratt, chief of detectives, examined the safe and took copies of fingerprints found on it.

BRITISH LABOR, IN REVOLT, CEASES WORK; CIVIL WAR THREAT SEEN BY PREMIER

Government Challenged by Another Regime, Baldwin Holds.

SITUATION IS CALLED GRAVEST IN HISTORY

Tension in House of Commons While Proclamation of Emergency Is Read.

London, May 3 (By A. P.).—Premier Baldwin today told the house of commons that as a result of the order for a general strike the government finds itself challenged by an alternative government. The premier declared that the labor leaders ordering the strike were threatening the basis of orderly government and were nearer to proclaiming civil war than Great Britain had been for centuries.

Further talking would be wrong, the premier said, unless the government got immediate and unconditional withdrawal of instructions for the general strike. He became convinced Friday night, he asserted, that A. Pugh, chairman of the Trades Union congress, and his colleagues were no longer in control of the situation within their own ranks.

"The only light hearts in the country today are those who either envy or hate us, because they see the whole of democratic freedom entering on a course which, if successful, can only substitute tyranny," he said. "It is not wages that are in peril, but the freedom of our very constitution.

"Everything for which I have worked for two years and for which I care at this moment has been smashed to atoms, but that does not take away my faith or courage in my aims."

No Disguising Seriousness.

The premier said that it was no use disguising the facts of the seriousness of the situation with words that conceal the truth.

He did not believe that there had been a thorough consultation with the rank and file of the trades union council before the power of calling a general strike had been put into the hands of a small group of executives in London. This, he felt, was a gross travesty of every democratic principle.

Premier Baldwin presented a message from the king declaring the existence of a state of emergency. The premier moved that a humble address be presented to his majesty thanking him for the message.

The laborites immediately challenged the premier's motion. The apparent calm of the first few minutes of the sitting quickly changed to intense feeling and taunts were hurled from side to side.

Premier Baldwin's motion also thanked the king for issuing his proclamation declaring that a state of emergency existed. The motion was carried by a vote of 308 to 108.

One of Gravest in History.

The premier then addressed the house, declaring the occasion was one of the gravest on which the commons had ever met.

There never would be a settlement in the coal industry until there was a different spirit in it and a very different organization for the discussion and arrangement of wages.

The premier said that up to the last moment both sides had been too prone to maneuver for a favorable position with the public. It had been impossible to get an agreed account of what the miner was earning because neither side had ever agreed on a figure.

They (the owners and miners) were two stubborn bodies, whose advance in the negotiations was like an irresistible force attacking an absolutely immovable object.

Must Rule Own Business.

The miners and owners would have to find or have found for them some way of managing their own business, independently of governmental intervention, the same as did all the other great industries of the country.

The premier said that the government had induced the owners to negotiate nationally and without reservation and to propose a guaranteed wage level that would be slightly higher than that under the settlement of 1921. The miners' refusal to consider this proposal, he said, made negotiations on it impossible.

The premier said that although

Plans for Strike News For British Readers

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

London, May 3.—Two newspapers likely will make their appearance in London as soon as the general strike is on. One will be edited by the government and the other by the trades union council, in order to supply news to the public from each side, since it seems certain that the whole British press will be tied up by the strike.

(Copyright, 1926, by the Chicago Tribune.)

London, May 3 (By A. P.).—The compositors of the Evening Standard, Star and of the Daily News today refused to set copy they believed injurious to labor's cause and went into conference with their union chiefs.

All except the early editions of the afternoon papers were held up pending the union's decision.

London, May 4 (By A. P.). London's newspaper row is abnormally silent this morning, the fleets of distributing motors, which customarily make the streets lively in the early hours not moving. After midnight the printing presses were quiet. The only issues of the papers were those which appeared before midnight, with the exception of the Laborite Herald, which issued its usual late edition.

WILKINS PLANE TO FLY 500 MILES OVER ARCTIC

Search for Land Will Be Made on Big Jump From Point Barrow, Alaska.

SNOW DELAYS DIRIGIBLE

Fairbanks, Alaska, May 3 (By A. P.).—Capt. George Hubert Wilkins, leader, and Carl B. Eilson, aviator of the Detroit arctic expedition, prepared here today for a flight of 500 miles over the Arctic ocean.

The expedition was organized to search for land in the Arctic ocean, and on March 31 Wilkins and Eilson flew north 150 miles from the edge of North America, going further than any recorded penetration in this direction.

The plan is for the airplane Alaskan to fly from here to Point Barrow, and then to make the big jump.

Plans announced when the expedition came here, February 23, were that if no land were sighted on the initial flight over the Arctic and no suitable place for lighting was seen, the journey might be continued to the Spitzbergen islands, north of the Norwegian mainland. But on March 31 Wilkins and Eilson saw stretches of open water which they pronounced fit for alighting in the Alaskan.

Leningrad, May 3 (By A. P.).—The start of the Amundsen-Ellsworth expedition's dirigible Norge, for Spitzbergen, was postponed again today because of a snowstorm.

While the crew of the Norge do not conceal their concern over the arrival of the American polar expedition, under Lieut. Comdr. Richard E. Byrd, at Spitzbergen, and the active preparation of other competitors in the polar flight competition, they still are fully confident that the first aircraft to cross the north pole will be an airship and not an airplane.

2 SPANISH FLIERS FEARED LOST AT SEA

Madrid-Manila Plane Not Heard From Since it Left Indo-China.

Hong Kong, May 3 (By A. P.). Fears grew today that Capt. Joaquin Loriga Taboada, and Mechanician Pedro Mariano Calton, Madrid to Manila fliers, had fallen into the gulf of Tongking, or the South China sea.

Taboada and Calton had not been seen since they left Hanoi, French Indo-China, Saturday morning with their Spanish comrade, Capt. Eduardo Gallarza, who flew in another machine. Gallarza arrived at Macao Saturday afternoon, his machine being damaged in alighting.

Gallarza reported that much of the 550-mile flight, chiefly over water, was difficult because of misty weather, making visibility extremely poor. Numerous telegrams to cities along the route from Hanoi to Macao have developed no news of Taboada and Calton.

5,000,000 Men Support Demands of Miners; Tie Up Industry.

PREDICTING OUTCOME IS HELD IMPOSSIBLE

Parliamentary Government's End Called a Possibility by Churchill.

London, Tuesday, May 4 (By A. P.).—Organized labor of Great Britain is in revolt.

Five million men are backing up the miners' demand for what they consider a living wage and proper working conditions.

At midnight a general strike of the industrial workers became effective throughout the country.

This widespread demonstration will, unless speedily terminated, cause untold suffering, with the loss of millions in money.

The last hours before the general strike call went forth were anxious ones. Thousands of citizens assembled in Parliament square and the adjoining streets, while within the house, ministers of the crown and former ministers, representing labor, battled in support of their respective contentions.

Labor Stand Criticized.

Premier Baldwin criticized the labor leaders on the ground that, in ordering the general strike, they were threatening the basis of orderly government and were nearer to proclaiming civil war than Great Britain had been for centuries.

Ramsay MacDonald, the labor leader, said the country faces a situation whose end and evolution not even the keenest observer could visualize.

Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, asserted that if this conflict were fought out to its conclusion, it could only mean the end of parliamentary government or its decisive victory.

Anxiety Among People.

From a kind of apathy the people of Great Britain, and particularly of London, the central point of struggle, turned to anxious speculation as it became apparent that the negotiations for a settlement were to fail, for even the lowliest citizen realized what a widespread strike of this kind meant, with stoppage of railway and transport services, the cessation of all building operations, the possible suspension of shipping, a breakdown in the distribution of food supplies, rationing of fuel and light, suspension of the newspapers and interference with all business.

The government has made preparations, backed by thousands of volunteers, to continue as what are known as the vital services, the distribution of food, bread and milk for the children, and for a continuance as far as possible of the means of transport, and the big places of business and corporations have arranged to provide sleeping and eating quarters for their employes, so that the necessity of returning home by day or night will be obviated.

Tremendous Tie-Up Certain.

Nevertheless there is certain to be a tremendous tie-up in all the big cities and an immediate cessation of many forms of labor dependent upon the greater industries comprised in the Trades Union congress.

Troops already have been sent to various sections where disturbances are most to be feared, but it is the expressed intention of both authorities and the labor leaders to do nothing of a provocative nature. The men necessary to keep the mines from flooding will be held at their posts. The railroad managers will run skeleton services, and the trans-Atlantic steamship companies have promised to maintain their sailings if that can possibly be done. The labor men have agreed also to aid in bringing food supplies to the people, having emphasized that their fight is not against the people but against the attitude of the government in the present crisis.

London has now had the unusual experience of a partial stoppage of the newspapers on account of the strike, a thing heretofore almost unheard of in England. The printers' strike is largely the outcome of the Daily Mail incident. That paper succeeded in publishing its Manchester edition Monday but as it contained the editorial to which the London printers objected, or-

LIMITED SUFFRAGE IN DISTRICT OPPOSED BY DUPONT CITIZENS

Present Form of Government Preferred to That in Pending Bill.

POLITICAL GROUPS DENOUNCED BY BODY

Methods of Electing National Committeemen Condemned By Association.

The Dupont Citizens association at a meeting yesterday presided over by Rear Admiral William L. Rodgers, retired, adopted a resolution opposing passage of a bill now in Congress which would grant to the people of the District limited suffrage in the form of two senators and two representatives.

The association took a slap at Edward F. Colladay, Republican national committeeman for the District, and unanimously adopted a resolution disfavoring any group in the District which holds itself out as a political organization, thereby influencing the appointing power of the President or administrative officers of the District without the knowledge or consent of the people of Washington.

Continuance of the present form of government for the District was favored because, it was stated, records show that the people of the District have fared better since passage of the organic act in 1878, which created the present form of government, than they did previously. Unless the people can get full government, it was stated, the present form is better than that which would follow under the bill now being considered by Congress.

Colladay Assailed.

Mr. Colladay was assailed previous to passage of the resolution introduced by Maj. Clayton E. Emig, which opposed political organizations here. Maj. Emig declared that Colladay had double-crossed representatives of the association when a successor to Capt. James F. Oyster as commissioner was being considered.

Maj. Emig declared that the executive committee of the association had gone to Colladay with the name of Maj. Gen. William W. Black, retired, former District engineer commissioner, as their choice. Colladay promised to support Gen. Black, it was asserted, but, instead, went to the President and suggested the appointment of Mr. Fenning.

The association also assailed the methods of electing the national committeemen in the District. Maj. Emig declared that the election of committeemen here is done by a "chosen few," without giving the people of the District a chance to vote. No notice of the time of election is ever given except to the "chosen few," Maj. Emig declared.

Night Study for School Children Is Condemned

A resolution advocating the abolition of night study for school children was unanimously adopted last night by the Manor Park Citizens association. Copies of the resolution will be sent to members of the board of education.

Members of the association condemned the practice of forcing school children to study in their homes at night, pointing out that it is injurious to their health and eyesight. The resolution approves of the children reading books dealing with subjects they have studied during the day.

The association adopted a resolution condemning the Borland amendment for street repairs in the District. Disapproval was also expressed of the modified bill drafted by Lieut. Col. J. Franklin Bell.

H. K. Dierkoph and Walter A. Neel were admitted to membership in the association. The meeting was held at the home of John D. Smoot, 413 Rittenhouse street northwest. E. H. Pullman presided.

Officer Flies to Class To Avoid Being Tardy

Flying to classes to keep from being absent or tardy is getting to be a habit of Lieut. Thomas D. White, army aviator and student at the Georgetown foreign service school.

Rather than miss an important lecture last week, Lieut. White flew from Columbus, Ohio, to this city, a distance of 450 miles, reporting to his class in time. Lieut. White, who is engineer officer at Bolling field, frequently is ordered out of Washington. Whenever possible, on these occasions, he commutes to his evening classes at Georgetown by airplane.

Lieut. Al Williams, America's former speed ace and Pulitzer prize winner, started the custom at Georgetown among the army and navy fliers who are studying there.

PLAN TO LESSEN STREET REPAIR BURDEN FAVORED

House Committee Backs Borland Amendment Relieving Property Owners.

20-YEAR RESPITE GIVEN

Amendment of the Borland law, to relieve property owners of the burden of the cost of repairing paved streets, was approved yesterday in a report to the full House District committee by a special subcommittee following an open meeting.

The amendment provides that owners of abutting property shall not be assessed for street repairs for twenty years after the original paving is laid. The amendment is necessary, Representative Stalker, of New York, chairman of the subcommittee, declared, because increased use of pavements by trucks and automobiles would levy an "intolerable burden" on owners of property abutting certain streets under the existing law.

Approval was given by the subcommittee to other measures, including the zoning law amendment providing for fireproofing of all hospitals, orphan asylums and other homes or institutions for the care of partially helpless persons.

No opposition was voiced by representatives of any of the institutions affected when the subcommittee called the bill up, and it was unanimously voted to report it favorably. Its provisions would not become effective for a year after passage and provision is made for extension to five years of the time within which some institutions would have to conform existing buildings.

21 WOMEN'S CLUBS PLAN DRY TICKET

Montgomery County Bodies United After Democratic Organization Bars 17.

Twenty-one women's clubs of Montgomery county, Md., consolidated last night for the purpose of producing a slate of dry candidates for the county election next fall. The federation will be known as the United Democratic Law Enforcement clubs of Montgomery county.

Representatives of the twenty-one clubs met in Rockville at the call of Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, who last week made a vain attempt to have the Women's Democratic club of Montgomery county take in seventeen of the clubs which formed the new club last night.

The real reason the 17 clubs were barred, according to Mrs. Nicholson, was that they were "too dry." A State-wide federation of women's clubs, which Mrs. Nicholson organized in Baltimore April 16, will endeavor to produce a dry candidate for governor to oppose Gov. Ritchie. The aspirants who have appeared thus far are all listed as wets.

STATE'S RELEASING OF WATCHES STIRS COUNSEL FOR WAN

Believes Timepieces Found on Body Might Have Set Hour of Murder.

DETECTIVE IS QUOTED AS CALLING CHINESE ILL

Assistant Prosecutor Placed on Witness Stand by Attorney of Chinese.

Headquarters Detective Kelly was quoted as saying that Ziang Sun Wan would die before his trial came up by a witness who testified yesterday at the third trial of the Chinese in criminal court.

Other features of yesterday's session were the calling of a prosecuting attorney as a witness by the defense counsel, and testimony that detectives, without warrant, cut open the mattress of Wan's bed in search of evidence.

Mrs. Gertrude Bartels, owner of the New York rooming house in which Wan lived, was the witness who quoted Kelly. The detective had arrested Wan in the rooming house and had brought him to this city. He had then returned to New York. Mrs. Bartels said she asked Kelly how Wan was feeling and that Kelly replied:

"His stomach is gone. He will never live out the trial."

Vigor Held Lacking.

Wilton J. Lambert, chief counsel for Wan, brought out this point from Mrs. Bartels to fortify his contention that Wan did not have the physical vigor to take part in the triple murder. Wan is accused of killing Ben Sen Wu, one of the three men who were murdered in the Chinese Educational mission the night of January 29, 1919.

Attorney Lambert caused a sensation when he asked the assistant prosecuting attorney, George D. Horning, jr., to take the witness stand. Mr. Horning was willing.

In response to a question by Mr. Lambert, Mr. Horning said he did not know for a certainty the present whereabout of the two watches that were found on the body of Dr. T. T. Wong, one of the victims of the triple murder.

Mr. Horning said that his records showed that the watches, which were taken from the body of Dr. Wong by Headquarters Detective Evans, had been turned over to an attache of the Chinese legation for return to Dr. Wong's family.

Time Is Debated Point.

Mr. Lambert expressed amazement that this had been done when the watches might have played such an important part in the trial. He pointed out that the shock of the battle in which Dr. Wong took part before his death might have caused the watches to stop, and this would have indicated at what time the murder took place.

The time of the murder is debated in this trial. The defense maintains that it took place at a time when Wan was in his room at the Harris hotel or en route to the hotel.

Mr. Lambert also questioned Mr. Horning about a pair of spectacles that were found in the Chinese educational mission after the murder. The assistant prosecuting attorney admitted that these had been lost. There was an intimation from the defense that these glasses might have led to the identification of the murderer.

Mattress Ripped Open.

Mrs. Bartels, the rooming house proprietor, testified that neither Detective Kelly nor Capt. Guy Burlingame exhibited a search warrant when they came to her rooming house to get Wan the day after discovery of the murder. She told how they ripped open the mattress on Wan's bed and broke open his trunks. Nothing was found of an incriminating nature.

Mrs. Bartels admitted that she once gave Wan a bottle of liquor to ease his stomach pains and also that she remonstrated with him when he drank too much. But she never saw him drink before that or after that, she testified.

Rogues' gallery photographs of Wan, taken at the time of his arrest, were brought into court by Headquarters Detective Sandberg and were shown to the jury over the objections of the prosecution. These photographs showed Wan to be extremely emaciated. He had testified that when these pictures were taken he weighed 109 pounds, whereas his normal weight was near 150 pounds.

Character Is Upheld.

Hugh A. O'Donnell, assistant business manager of the New York Times, a former employer of Wan, was one of the character witnesses called by the defense yesterday. Describing Wan's superstitious nature, Mr. O'Donnell told how the Chinese resigned his position because he wore a cat's eye scarf pin which was supposed to betoken ill luck. Wan, the witness said, possessed a gentle nature and a very high character.

Mrs. Eva McKill, who knew Wan when he was a student at the Ohio Northern university, told the jury that he was "one of the most noble-hearted boys" she had ever known.

BUREAU OF HYGIENE FOR SCHOOLS ASKED IN HOUSE MEASURE

Begg Bill Would Give New Medical Department Broad Powers.

IS RESULT OF RECENT INVESTIGATION IN CITY

Has Approval of Welfare Leaders, Physicians and Health Officer.

Efforts to develop a real school medical inspection service in the District were advanced a step yesterday when Representative James T. Begg, of Ohio, introduced a bill in the House providing for a new bureau of school hygiene in the District health department.

Proper medical inspection would be provided for all pupils and teachers under the bill. The bureau would be charged with responsibility for healthful condition of all school buildings, and instruction of teachers and pupils in hygiene. It would supervise nutrition classes, prevent spread of diseases, and carry on general health promotion work.

"The slogan which calls for millions of dollars for school buildings, but not an additional cent to safeguard the health of children using these buildings is not based upon experience or upon common sense," Representative Begg declared in a statement made public with the introduction of his bill.

Follows Investigations.

The measure is an outgrowth of the investigation begun sometime ago by the Monday Evening club, which showed that Washington is far behind other cities, both larger and smaller, in its provision for the proper safeguarding of school children's health. The bill is understood to meet with the approval of welfare leaders and physicians, and to have the indorsement of Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer, under whose supervision the work would be carried on.

"In what way," Representative Begg asked, "do we benefit by furnishing an educational preparation to children who may never be able to take full advantage of the opportunities thus afforded because of physical handicaps which might have been cured by early treatment? What of the honor pupil, educated largely at public expense, whose graduate studies are cut short by defective vision?

Health Important.

"Our experience in the world war, disclosing the large number of young men suffering from physical defects, brought home to us that our system of public education must give consideration to health problems and must strive to extend and to conserve the health of the children in our public schools.

"Today the development of health is recognized by all educational leaders as one of the primary objects of all education. Cities throughout the country recognize the great importance of this work, but in this movement the capital of our nation is far behind. The situation calls for serious attention. A bill similar to the one I have introduced is to be introduced in the Senate.

END GANG KILLINGS, PREVENT MOB RULE, JUDGE TELLS JURY

Reign of Terror in Chicago Is Near, Special Inquiry Body Is Warned.

BRIBERY IS MENTIONED WITH POLITICAL STRIFE

Coroner Wolff, Foe of State's Attorney Crowe, Will Be the First Witness.

Chicago, May 3 (By A. P.).—Charged by the court with the task of forestalling "a reign of terror" in Chicago, a special grand jury set out today to fix responsibility for internecine gang warfare which culminated last week in a triple murder whose principal victim was assistant State's Attorney William H. McSwiggin.

Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, of Illinois, intervening at the request of State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, took charge of the panel after it had been sworn and instructed by Judge William V. Brothers, acting chief justice of the criminal court.

An inquiry of possible relation of the gang warfare with politics was suggested by the fact that the first two witnesses to appear before the grand jury were Coroner Oscar Wolff, political foe of the State's attorney, and Harry Eugene Kelly, president of the Union League club of Chicago, and an advocate of an inquiry into gangdom's possible relationships with law enforcement officials.

State's Attorney General Carlstrom will conduct the inquiry with the assistance of the State's attorney's office.

Judge Brothers told the jury that at least nineteen of twenty murders since January 1, are what might be termed gang murders. He recounted the use by the slayers of sawed-off shotguns, rifles and machine guns; the commission of all the murders by night, the refusal of victims to name their slayers, even when they could.

"The primary motive inspiring the gangs," said Judge Brothers, "appears to be indissolubly linked with the illicit traffic in liquor and beer.

"If the present condition of affairs continues much longer, without the intervention of the stern and implacable hand of the law, a reign of terror will be upon us. Mob rule will prevail."

The court called to the jury's attention to the fact that he had "purposely refrained" from limiting the scope of its inquiry in any fashion.

"If bribery or corruption suggest themselves, look closely and present the guilty ones for trial. The citizens of our country are aroused."

The Rev. Elmer Williams and E. J. Davis, officials of the Better Government association, issued a challenge to State's Attorney Crowe to call them as the first witnesses.

James Doherty, who was killed with McSwiggin and Thomas Duffy, and who was understood to have been in the beer business with Myles O'Donnell and the latter's brothers, was declared today to have accused "Paddy the Fox" Ryan, a month ago, of the killing of Walter Quinlan. In some quarters the question was raised whether Doherty paid with his life for informing on "Paddy the Fox."

Eighteen months ago McSwiggin prosecuted Doherty on the charge that he murdered Eddie Tancl, Cicero resort keeper. Doherty was acquitted without offering a single witness. He and McSwiggin had been friends for years.

SCORE OR MORE HURT UNDER THEATER DEBRIS

Many Pinned to Seats When Ceiling in Wilkes-Barre Movie House Falls.

WILD RUSH TO ESCAPE

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 3 (By A. P.).—A score of persons were injured, several seriously, either by falling debris or in the mad rush for safety, when a section of the ceiling of the Savoy theater fell today.

The accident occurred when the theater, one of the largest movie houses in the city, was only partly filled. The section which fell was 45 feet wide and more than 50 feet long, and weighed approximately eleven tons.

Charged electric wires were carried down by the debris and several persons received severe shocks and burns as well as lacerations and bruises.

City officials expressed the opinion that the collapse was caused by the vibration of a large electric motor beneath the stage, used to operate the organ bellows.

Mexico City, May 3 (By A. P.).—Editorially attacking the attitude of American newspapers on the recent decision against the United States in the Santa Ysbel claims case, Excelsior today declares that the American press is showing its usual incurable malevolence toward Mexico.

"American newspapers are Mexico's worst enemies and also the worst enemies of the United States government's efforts to establish friendship among the nations of the western hemisphere," the paper says. "However, these newspapers do not reflect the sentiments of the people of the United States, but only the opinions of the often ignorant editors."

Court to Hear Appeal Of Doheny October 4

(By the Associated Press.)

The appeal of Edward L. Doheny to set aside the decision of the Federal courts in California cancelling his oil leases, was yesterday advanced by the Supreme Court for hearing on October 4. Government counsel argued that the case be advanced, pointing out that a decision would probably also decide many points in the case against Harry F. Sinclair.

The Doheney case involves 37,760 acres of land and the Sinclair case 9,300, valuable as a naval oil reserve, which the government held would be seriously impaired, if not entirely destroyed by an undue delay in finally deciding the validity of the leases and contracts which had been made while Albert B. Fall was Secretary of the Interior.

THOMPSON, CONVICTED WITH FORBES, SUCCUMBS

Millionaire Contractor, Facing 2-Year Term in Prison, Dies Suddenly.

HEART FAILURE CAUSE

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—John W. Thompson, 64, millionaire railroad contractor, convicted with Col. Charles R. Forbes, former veterans' bureau head, of conspiracy to defraud the government in hospital contracts, died at his home here early today of heart disease.

Thompson's application for probation from a two-year prison sentence was to have been argued in Federal court at Chicago next Monday. Two government physicians examined the contractor here April 6 and reported he was in no condition to serve a prison term. Col. Forbes is now in Leavenworth penitentiary.

Thompson had undergone a third operation for hernia at a local hospital March 2, remaining there, critically ill, until his physicians thought it best for him to return home about three weeks ago. Yesterday he was able to sit up for a time. He was conversing with his wife and nurses when death came suddenly shortly after midnight.

The contractor's wealth, estimated by his friends at several million dollars, was gained largely from sand and gravel dredged from the Mississippi river at Proffits island, two miles above Baton Rouge, La. This business, operated under a lease from the owners, was managed by a brother, A. Thompson, of New Orleans.

Thompson's war-time operations included a $3,000,000 contract for construction of a camp near Fort Worth, Tex., for Canadian aviators. He also was interested in cantonment work at two other points in Texas and at Deming, N. Mex.

Thompson, whose parents came from Ireland in the 60s, was born in Canada. He came to St. Louis in the early 90s, after he had begun his career in Wisconsin as a telegraph operator.

HEARTBURN IS LAID TO MUSCLE SPASM, NOT ACID STOMACH

Warm and Cold Water, Alkali and Other Substances Have Same Effect.

RATE OF BLOOD'S FLOW ACCURATELY MEASURED

Tracing Radium Injection Is Described Before Clinical Research Body.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 3 (By A. P.).—After-dinner "heart burn" is not necessarily caused by acid stomach, according to Drs. Chester M. Jones and Wyman Richardson, of Boston, speaking before the American Society for Clinical Investigation here today. Motion photographs of a sufferer's esophagus at the moment of heartburn were shown in support of the assertion that muscular distensions of the digestive tract and not its contents are the cause of the unpleasant symptoms.

Warm water, cold water, acid, alkali and even the contents of the patient's own stomach were introduced into the stomach and all found in a number of cases habitually suffering from heart burn to produce the same sensations, reported Dr. Jones.

"The fluoroscope showed the distensions or muscular spasms, occurring when pain was felt," he added.

"We found that heartburn can be produced by a variety of maneuvers and can often be controlled by the giving of attropine," said Dr. Jones.

Painter's Palsy Treated.

Treatment of "painter's palsy" and other forms of poisoning frequent among lead workers, by the use of parathyroid, a gland extract, was reported by Drs. Donald Hunter, of London, and J. C. Aub, of Boston, investigators at Harvard medical school.

The parathyroid acts to draw out the lead stored in the bones. Experiments on six patients all showed encouraging results, excreting lead in large quantities, Dr. Hunter said.

The treatment was said by Dr. Hunter to seem in the cases tried more efficient than a treatment by acidosis, but requires care in its administration.

Volume of Gastric Acid Juice.

Drs. A. L. Blomfield and C. S. Kefer, of Baltimore, reported the devising of a new method of accurately determining the volume of gastric acid juice secreted by the stomach. Observations they were able to make on stomach function in cases where the stomach has lost the power of secreting hydrochloric acid may prove valuable, they believe, in furnishing a new and exact means of making diagnoses in diseases of the stomach.

For the first time the rate of the flow of blood in the body has been accurately measured, the method being an ingenious use of radium injected into the body at one point and its emanations registered at another. This important scientific advance was reported by Drs. Hermann Blumgart and Somna Weiss, of the Thorndyke memorial laboratory, Boston City hospital.

The device will be invaluable in giving doctors an accurate conception of the condition of the circulation, especially in heart disease, say physicians who praised the work. It will make possible without taking samples of blood from the body, or disturbing the patient in any way, to determine the efficacy of their treatment, they say.

In describing the new method, Dr. Blumgart said that an injection of the active deposit of radium was made in the left arm, and the emanations detected by an electroscope upon arrival in the right arm after a transit through the heart and lungs. The average speed of the normal person was found to range from 15 to 22 seconds, whereas in disease it has been recorded as slow as from 45 to 60 seconds.

TWO WOMEN, TWO MEN INVOLVED IN A MURDER

Feminine Prisoner Says Boy's Father Killed Him; Reason Is Withheld.

LYNCHING IS PROSPECT

Petersburg, Ind., May 3 (By A. P.).—Mrs. Beatrice Bolin, 55, tonight confessed to knowledge of the murder of Leander Roe, whose body was found in the Patoka river last Friday. Mrs. Bolin named her alleged paramour, Thomas Roe, 60, father of the boy as the principal in the killing.

In addition to Roe, Mrs. Bolin implicated a man and a woman in the crime, but she refused to name them.

According to Mrs. Bolin's statement, young Roe was murdered in his father's home, April 24, his body placed in a trunk in an unused room of the house and kept there until last Wednesday. Meanwhile, the river was being dragged, following the finding of the boy's clothing on the bank Monday, where it was placed by Roe.

When the dragging of the Patoka river was abandoned and a land search begun, Roe and two others hauled the trunk containing the body of the boy to the river and dumped it in, she told the officers. She has not yet told why Roe killed his son.

The town of Winslow became aroused a week ago with the finding of the boy's clothing near the river. Motherless for three years, the boy had become a town mascot, beloved of all.

Roe and Mrs. Bolin were arrested Saturday, after feeling in Winslow became so intense that lynching was feared.

NICARAGUAN TOWN SEIZED BY LIBERAL FORCES IN REVOLT

Vice President of Mangua Before Present Government, Exile in Washington.

CHAMORRA, NOW HEAD, ACCUSED OF TYRANNY

East Coast Forces Battling Him; U. S. Interests Said to Be Involved.

Managua, Nicaragua, May 3 (By A. P.).—Liberal revolutionists have captured the town of Bluefields after a fight in which two persons were killed and several wounded.

The town was captured early yesterday. The government is recruiting heavily and it is believed that a strong force soon will attempt to retake the place. Business is normal in Managua and quiet prevails.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The telegrams from Managua, Nicaragua, announce the capture of Bluefields and vicinity by the natives of the east coast in revolt against the so-called government of Chamorro. To those who are acquainted with conditions long existing on the east coast of Nicaragua their comment is: "Why the long delay in revolting?"

To give a brief statement of the situation as it is and the causes leading up to the present deplorable conditions, it is necessary to go back 32 years, when England held a protectorate over the Miskito reserve, the east coast of Nicaragua. In 1894 the Nicaraguan government took forcible possession of the reserve. England intervened, in accordance with her treaty obligations, but the government of the United States stepped in and forced England to abandon her treaty obligations. It was understood at the time that the United States would act in the place of England and see that the citizens of the reserve country, many of whom are citizens of the United States, would have a square deal by the Managua government.

Heavily Taxed.

The Managua government, since that date has filled all of the government offices with men from the west coast. Every possible tax was immediately placed on imports, properties and exports, and in addition the west coast government has appropriated the largest part of the municipal incomes of the city of Bluefields. All of the money collected went to swell the income of the Managua government, leaving nothing for the East coast.

In consequence the once flourishing city of Bluefields, under the protection of England, has gone to rack and ruin. The streets and sidewalks are nothing but mudholes and unsafe to attempt to walk on after dark. Taxed to death, the people have no money to improve the place.

When Chamarro was formerly president he was very severe in his treatment of the east coast, hence there is every reason why the citizens do not wish to live under his power again.

At the recent election of the president there was formed the Atlantic Coast National league (Liga Nacional del Litoral Atlantico) and was joined by all of thet citizens of the east coast. The former president, Carlos Solarzano, and the vice president, Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, duly became members of the league when they were actual candidates for office. The election brought about the election of President Solorzano and Vice President Socasa, with a more than two-to-one majority over all other candidates.

On October 24, last, Gen. Chamarro took possession of the national army in Managua, and captured the government, causing President Salorzano to resign, and finally leave the country. Members of the cabinet, supreme court judges, senators and the vice president, who objected to the high-handed methods of the dictator were made to get out of the country. The dictator had himself illegally elected a senator. Shortly afterward, congress, subservient to the wishes of the dictator, elected him first designate to the presidency, thus fulfilling in appearance the formalities, and paving the way to the presidency of the republic.

Vice President Comes Here.

The dictator promptly started false proceedings of impeachment against the constitutional vice president, Dr. Sacasa, with the purpose of compelling him to resign the vice presidency. Dr. Sacasa evaded the military and went over the border into Honduras and came on to Washington, where he now has made temporary headquarters at Hamilton hotel.

The governments of Central America, in accordance with the general treaty of peace and friendship, signed in Washington on February 7, 1923, publicly made express declaration that they would not recognize as legitimate, due to frauds and violence, a man who assumes the presidency of a Central American republic. The Department of State, as moral guarantor thereof and the Central American republics can not and evidently will not recognize Chamarro, who has come into power by fraud and force.

The object of the Atlantic Coast National league is to promote constitutional government and orderly procedure and helpful upbuilding of the country. It is our hope, by thus taking the bull by the horns, to compel the dictator to give up his illegal seizure of the presidency, handing back the money, property and equipment he has flagrantly taken by force, and will assist in the seating of the now rightful president Dr. Sacasa.

It is of particular importance for the protection of good Americans, who are now in business on the east coast, that a warship and marines be sent immediately to Bluefields and another to the Rio Grande, Nicaragua, where millions of dollars of American funds are invested in banana plantations, stores, shops and manufacturing, and where well-to-do American families live.

BUILDINGS BILL VOTE IS EXPECTED TODAY

Blanket Power in Spending of Money Taken From Treasury Head.

Blanket authority given the Secretary of the Treasury to expend $100,000,000 of the $165,000,000 appropriated in the bill was eliminated from the public buildings measure in the Senate yesterday. This is expected to clear the way for passage today. The bill now provides the Treasury shall submit a program, which Congress will pass on.

The bill carries $50,000,000 for construction of needed public buildings in Washington; $15,000,000 is to go for completion of projects begun under the public buildings program of 1913, and $100,000,000 would be expended for new buildings outside the District.

Opposition to the blanket authority the bill conferred on Secretary Mellon, to determine where and how this amount should be expended, had been fought by Democratic leaders, including Senator Reed, of Missouri; Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, and others, and the amendments agreed on at a conference of Democratic and Republican leaders, cleared the way for quick passage.

4 Navy Seaplanes To Aid Dry Forces

(By the Associated Press.)

Transfers of four navy hydroplanes to the prohibition forces to be used along the south Atlantic coast in fighting rum smugglers was ordered yesterday by Secretary Wilbur.

The transfer was made at the request of Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement, and the planes will be placed in charge of M. O. Dunning, collector of customs at Savannah and prohibition coordinator for the Southeastern States.

JOHN HAYS HAMMOND HONOR GUEST AT DINNER

Prominent Men Pay Tribute to Great Engineer Who Now Is 71.

PRESIDENT SENDS LETTER

New York, May 3 (By A. P.).—Four hundred men, distinguished in arts, literature, industry and professional life in this country, paid tribute tonight to John Hays Hammond, diplomat, engineer and publicist and chairman of the United States coal commission, at a dinner in the Waldorf Astoria in celebration of his seventy-first birthday on March 31. At that time Mr. Hammond was in Europe. He returned recently.

Mr. Hammond was presented with a bound volume containing thousands of congratulatory messages from all parts of the world. Another feature was a South African table from friends who knew him there.

Former U. S. Senator Charles S. Thomas, of Colorado, presided. Speakers included Representative Ogden L. Mills; Alexander C. Humphreys, president of Stevens Institute of Technology; Secretary of Labor James J. Davis; George Harvey, former ambassador to Great Britain; Arthur Twining Hadley, president emeritus of Yale University; the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, bishop of Washington; the Very Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, dean of Georgetown University; Col. Henry D. Lindsley, past national commander of the American legion; James William Bryan, Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, retired; United States Senator Tasker L. Oddie, Republican, and United States Senator Key Pittman, Democrat, both of Nevada, and Otto H. Kahn.

Among the hundreds of congratulatory letters and telegrams were messages from President Coolidge, Vice President Dawes and all the members of the President's cabinet, members of the diplomatic corps of foreign countries, United States senators, congressmen, governors and others prominent in public life here and abroad.

The letter written by President Coolidge on the occasion of Mr. Hammond's birthday read: "It gives me pleasure to have the privilege of joining your many friends in heartiest congratulations on this your seventy-first birthday. It is good to know that, while you have passed the biblical 'three score and ten' you are still in the enjoyment of good health and able to continue those public services which have so distinguished your career. May the future years hold for you peace and happiness."

A congratulatory letter from Luther Burbank, written shortly before his death was read at the dinner.

Dogs Chasing Planes Bother Army Fliers

Dogs have barked for generations at everything running on wheels, but it is only in the last few days that there is record of airplanes being the object of canine high spirits.

Aviators at Bolling field are complaining that dogs snap and run at the planes when the latter are ascending from the base, while the animals' loud "bow wows" can be distinguished above the roar of the motors. The dogs show equal boldness, it is said, when the machines alight. Some difficulty is experienced by pilots anxious to avoid crushing them under the wheels.

Farm Relief Bills Up in House Today

(By the Associated Press.)

Farm relief legislation, waiting in the anteroom for six months, will have its days in court beginning today, when the House takes up the three bills reported by its agriculture committee.

Under a special rule providing four days of general debate, the Haugen price stabilization bill will be called up and the other two measures—the Tincher credit plan, supported by Secretary Jardine, and the Curtis-Aswell national commodity marketing proposal—will be in order as substitutes. Debating time will be controlled equally by the authors of the three bills.

2 Debt Settlements Signed by Coolidge

President Coolidge yesterday signed the Roumanian and Czechoslovakian debt settlement resolutions already approved by Congress.

The executive also signed the agreement designed to settle the debt of Jugoslavia, and it will be transmitted to Congress today for its action.

TRIAL OF ENGLISH TO BE HELD IN FALL

the charges is a complete denial of each, but given in great detail with respect to each charge mentioned. He contends, however, that even if cited charges were true they would not constitute violations of his oath, nor be subjects for his impeachment.

Claims Action Necessary.

The judge's alleged conduct in August, 1922, is cited in the charges as an example of tyrannical conduct, but his defense is that there was virtually a state of civil war in southern Illinois at that time because of the shopmen's strike and that vigorous action was necessary.

Charges that he had threatened certain newspaper reporters and editors because of articles they had printed, that he had shown favoritism, that he had disbarred attorneys without just cause, or that he was guilty of corruption in bankruptcy proceedings before his court, all are specifically and categorically denied by the judge.

LEADERS CONSIDER ADVISING COOLIDGE TO REMOVE FENNING

Mr. Blanton ran through the decree issued by Justice Hoehling which showed that at various stages the corporation counsel "agreed" with the traction company's contention.

"Of course, with the corporation counsel agreeing to everything, there was nothing else for the justice to do," Mr. Blanton observed.

Brosnan Case Discussed.

Justice Hoehling discussed the Brosnan case, which has been the subject of some criticism by attorneys who figured in it, and who have appeared before the committee. The question concerning the committee was solely whether the justice acted arbitrarily in sending Brosnan to jail for contempt of court after he had failed to account for certain funds.

Justice Hoehling declared that Brosnan was dissipating the assets of the estate of his father and that every action against him was at the instance of his five sisters. He did not take summary action until after about four years of litigation, and when he was convinced that Brosnan had the money and was wilfully withholding it, he said. When Brosnan testified and convinced him that he really had dissipated the money, he ordered him released rather than have his action construed as one of sending a man to jail to collect a debt.

Blanton Cites His Record.

Questioned by Mr. Gibson, Justice Hoehling said he saw no reason why there should not be legislation limiting the amount of fee which a guardian may receive to 5 per cent.

Incidentally Mr. Blanton gave the justice quite a recitation of what a good and hard-working judge he was in Texas. He said that he could try; rather he had conducted murder trials of the same importance as the Wan case in two weeks. Not only that, but he sat continuously for one year, never taking a vacation, he said.

Representatives Bowman, of West Virginia, and Gibson expressed some credulity, but Mr. Blanton insisted he was giving a statement of fact.

Sanity Is Discussed.

The question of when a man is sane and when he is insane was thrashed out by the committee and Dr. Samuel Silk and Dr. Daniel C. Main, of St. Elizabeths staff. Dr. Silk testified he had been the "affidavit doctor" in very few of Mr. Fenning's cases, "not more than ten in the last few years."

He was questioned sharply by Representative Bowman as to the condition of Roley Lee, in the intest of whom Mr. Blanton got started on his investigation, and who as a result of it is to be transferred to the custody of his mother in nearby Virginia.

He said he considered Lee "destructive and without appreciation" of proportion.

"Do you consider him dangerous?" Mr. Bowman asked.

"Potentially dangerous," Dr. Silk replied. Then it was developed that that patient is given into the custody of his mother during the day and that she takes him where she pleases.

"Now, tell me one destructive thing he has ever done," pressed Mr. Bowman. "If he is dangerous, why do you permit him to mingle with the other patients and give him into the custody of his mother?"

Opposed to Removal.

Dr. Silk could give no specific instance, asserting that Lee was not directly under his supervision, but standing stubbornly on the ground that "professionally" he would advise against removal.

Mr. Bowman made it plain that he was not questioning the alienist's diagnosis, but said he wanted to know "if the boy is not dangerous to the community why don't you let his mother have him?"

This sam line of questioning was pursued with Dr. Main, under whose direct supervision the boy is held. Mr. Bowman pressed him to the point of saying that the boy had been directly under him for a year.

"Now in that time tell me one thing destructive he has done or anything that would lead you to think he would be dangerous if turned over to his mother," Mr. Bowman insisted. Dr. Main could not do it, whether it was because he was handicapped in the rapid fire of questioning or without knowledge of such an instance.

Pressed as to what its attitude would be if the veterans' bureau ordered the boy released, both of the alienists said they would give the bureau their opinion as to his mental condition and if the bureau still insisted that he be released they had no desire to retain him.

"Come and Go" Patients.

Both alienists were asked about a patient named Dowdy. It seemed that Mr. Blanton had a letter from him.

Mr. Blanton pursued the questioning to the point of where everybody was in agreement that this patient has all the freedom he wants and even teaches a Sunday school class in Congress Heights. With this groundwork laid, Mr. Blanton asked:

"Then why don't you let him go?"

Both alienists testified that the hospital had been trying to get rid of Dowdy for some time.

"He can leave tomorrow if he wants to," said Dr. Main, who explained that he is a "border line" patient, who has been discharged from the hospital on occasions, but who "seems to be unable to adapt himself and comes back." At the outset Mr. Blanton wanted to know why they had not brought Dowdy with them, as they had been instructed to do. The alienists testified that Dowdy ate dinner early and left the reservation. He comes and goes as he pleases, they said.

Many "Border Line" Patients.

The alienists testified that they have many of these so-called "border line" cases. Many world war veterans come to the hospital unattended and ask for treatment, they said.

"We do not consider them insane in the way the layman uses the word. They are suffering from mental illness. We help them all we can and let them go when they want to." It was developed, however, that in Commissioner Fenning's guardianship process even such patients as these are often legally adjudged lunatics. Once they are so adjudged, the only way in which they can regain their mental competency in so far as the law and right to handle their property is concerned, is to be declared sane by a jury most likely by bringing a writ of habeas corpus.

Mr. Blanton asked Dr. Main if the "real reason why the hospital is unwilling to turn Reley Lee over to his mother is because Mr. Fenning will lose his fee."

"Absolutely not," replied Dr. Main.

Doctors Main and Silk and other hospital attendants cornered Mr. Bowman when he left the hearing for a few minutes, seeking to give "further explanation as to when a man should be in the asylum and when he should not." There is a young fellow hanging around the hearings who is one of the "come and go" patients at St. Elizabeths. He discusses his case frankly, has no grievances and manifests a highly developed sense of humor.

Joins in Argument.

He has been getting a big "kick" out of visiting the institution daily since the hearings began and "kidding" the doctors about their forthcoming grilling. He enjoyed himself immensely last night and joined in the argument outside which finally found Mr. Bowman in the role of referee. He is on good terms with the hospital staff and refers to them as "good fellows."

Mr. Gibson asked Dr. Main what he thought about the advisability of one man being guardian for 200 patients. Dr. Main replied he would rather deal with one guardian than a number of them.

"That is readily apparent," Mr. Gibson observed. The committee is to meet again tonight.

Mr. Johnson took his stand in the veterans' committee on the ground that the committee should not force testimony from the commissioner inasmuch as he has still to appear before the House judiciary committee. But other members of the committee said that regardless of the justification of his attitude he had raised the same issue of whether the chairman of a committee or a majority of it is the power.

They consulted as to whether they should press this issue, aside from the resolution which Mr. Bulwinkle was directed to prepare.

Mr. Sweet first sought to prevent any committee action by raising the point of no quorum, but Representative Rankin (Democrat), of Mississippi, brought in a quorum by telephone.

Representative Bulwinkle said that had the commissioner not insisted at the first that he be permitted to appear, no one would question his attitude now.

"We did not invite him," said Mr. Bulwinkle. "He demanded that he be permitted to appear, asserting he would be willing to give us all the information we wanted. Well, he has not given me all the information I want. For one thing, I would like to answer him about this book which he and Dr. White collaborated in writing. The truth of it is that he has gotten cold feet."

Representative Browning (Democrat), of Tennessee, asserted that under the "friendly" questioning of Representative Luce (Republican), of Massachusetts, the commissioner has "almost broken down and confessed that he was the greatest guardian in the world." The commissioner told the committee at his previous questioning that he frequently arranged automobile rides for his wards, Mr. Bulwinkle said, "but in examining the cases I find that about all he has ever done is to send them cigarettes and fruit on Christmas. The Red Cross and other organizations furnish the automobile rides. Now does he object to my questioning him about that?"

Doubts He Would Answer.

Representative Milligan (Democrat), of Missouri, took a philosophical view of the situation, saying that the commissioner, if he were to come back, "would not answer questions anyway."

The commissioner in his letter to Chairman Johnson said he felt that he had given the committee all the "information" which he had, and could see no purpose in his again appearing.

The committee decided to call Dr. W. A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's hospital, for appearance this morning.

It developed that there has been action in the cases of two of Mr. Fenning's wards about whom there has been many charges and denials. Frank Hall, a war veteran, denials. Aside from Roley Lee's case, Frank Hall, a war veteran, of Georgia, whom Representative Green, of Florida, charged Mr. Fenning with holding at St. Elizabeth's, away from his relatives, has been transferred to a Georgia hospital. The boy's father has died, however, Mr. Green asserting that he died of a "broken heart" because of the treatment of his son.

Killing Is Brought Up.

The House District subcommittee at its morning session touched on the unsolved slaying of Barney McBride several years ago. Henry Van Meter, brought from the District jail under an erroneous impression as to his identity, testified that he was convinced he knew the slayer of the man. Van Meter is a former practicing attorney here and is being held in the local jail in connection with extradition proceedings for his removal to Missouri.

He contended that he is being persecuted for his knowledge of conditions in the Leavenworth, Kans., penitentiary. He made an investigation into the McBride slaying for the office of Frank S. Easby-Smith. After McBride's body was found off the Marlboro pike in August, 1922, he testified, $98,000 belonging to the man, was removed from the Indian office of the Interior Department under "questionable procedure." He was to be heard again at the night session, but the committee did not get to him.

The committee also developed that both Commissioner Fenning and Commissioner Rudolph use firemen as their chauffeurs. District Auditor Daniel J. Donovan testified it was an administrative matter which no law or regulation covered.

M. T. Hizer and Rodney K. Thomas, the firemen in question, testified under questioning by Representative Blanton, of Texas, that they would much prefer to be real firemen. Their salaries are $2,100 a year, and Mr. Blanton said a competent chauffeur could be retained for $1,200 a year.

Through Mr. Donovan it was developed that from 1914 to 1921 the coroner used a small car for which the District paid $500, but for which the maintenance for the period was $6,732.55. At his instance the car and high maintenance cost had been taken away from the coroner, and he is now required to use his own machine and is allowed $26 a month allowance.

LA GUARDIA REJECTS SUBPENA OF JURY

Invokes Immunity in His Refusal to Testify in Indiana Liquor Case.

(By the Associated Press.)

Invoking the constitutional immunity granted members of Congress, Representative La Guardia (Progressive Socialist), New York, declined yesterday to obey a subpena from an Indianapolis Federal grand jury to appear for testimony in a prohibition case.

Mr. La Guardia announced his decision on the House floor, saying he doubted whether he had authority to accept the subpena unless consent were given by the House. His statement led to a debate on the constitutional question involved.

His testimony had been asked for, the New Yorker said, in regard to charges recently made by him in the House, involving the disappearance of 350 cases of liquor from the Federal building at Indianapolis, held in custody of the court.

"The Department of Justice," he said, "knows exactly what I know. The bootleggers of Ohio, in conjunction with those of Pennsylvania, have caused this subpoena, and I shall not dignify it by noticing it. Let the court compel my attendance."

Blanton Tells Legion He Will Continue Fight

Representative Blanton, of Texas, will "make life miserable" for politicians who attempt to delay legislation that will be framed as a result of the Fenning investigation, he said in a letter yesterday to Comdr. Raymond A. Burke, of the McGroarty-O'Connell post, of the American Legion.

Representative Blanton said he would not rest until he had "cleaned up" St. Elizabeths hospital, Gallinger hospital, Mount Alto, and other institutions containing veterans. A greatly needed measure, he said, is one that will provide compensation and hospital treatment for tubercular veterans, regardless of when the disease developed.

Another Reason

Baking beans in real ovens—the Heinz way—renders them tender and mealy so that each bean soaks up the rich sauce in which they come.

Thus, oven-baking develops flavor and prepares the way for this added goodness. Boiled, soggy beans could not do that. Look at the label for real Heinz Oven-Baked Beans. Beans cannot be labeled baked unless they are baked.

OSCAR STRAUS DIES SUDDENLY, AGED 76; LIFE WAS NOTABLE

Financier, Philanthropist and Diplomat, Long a Servant of the Public.

FIRST OF JEWISH RACE APPOINTED TO CABINET

Envoy to Turkey in 1887 and Secretary of Commerce Under Roosevelt.

New York, May 3 (By A. P.).—Death today ended the long career of Oscar S. Straus, who, coming to America at the age of 4 with his parents, Jewish immigrants from Bavaria, rose to prominence as a merchant, financier, philanthropist, diplomat and ever-willing servant of the public.

He was 76 years old and for two years had been troubled with heart attacks. He returned two weeks ago to his Fifth avenue home from a winter in Florida.

Suddenly and without pain death took him as he was enjoying his breakfast in apparently no worse health than had been his for several days. His wife and Roger William Straus, his son, were with him at the end. Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at Temple Beth-El, in Fifth avenue, and burial will be in Beth-El cemetery, on Long island.

Became Lawyer at 23.

Mr. Straus entered upon a career as a lawyer at the age of 23, but forsook this for business a few years later, becoming an important factor in the department store field, from which he retired in 1907.

His public life began in 1887 when he was appointed Minister to Turkey by President Cleveland. As Secretary of Commerce under President Roosevelt he was the first member of the Jewish race to become a cabinet member. In 1912 he was progressive candidate for governor of New York.

Five Presidents of both political parties honored him and the latter quarter century of his life was given up to public service and philanthropy.

His domestic political duties were varied for 18 years by attendance at The Hague, where he served six three-year terms, beginning in 1902. His other public duties included membership on the advisory board of the commission for relief in Belgium, of which Herbert Hoover was chairman.

Founded Civic Federation.

He also was a founder of the National Civic Federation and the author of a number of books on economics.

Mr. Straus began his career as a lawyer in 1873, but forsook this in 1881 to join a pottery and glassware importing house under the firm name of L. Straus & Sons. This corporation later became interested in department stores and Mr. Straus became an important factor in this field before he retired in 1907.

Mr. Straus returned to the Near East again in 1924 on a journey of conciliation when, at request of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America, he used his good offices to bring harmony into the relations between the five Christian sects in the Holy Land.

Mr. Straus was a strong advocate of the League of Nations.

The approach of old age did not affect his activities, and November 25 of last year, one month before his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary, he became chairman of the New York committee of the sesquicentennial exposition at Philadelphia.

Condolences by Coolidge.

President Coolidge yesterday sent the following telegram to Mrs. Oscar S. Straus, widow of the New York statesman:

"News of the death of your distinguished husband was a great shock. As Minister and later as Ambassador to Turkey, as Secretary of Commerce and Labor and as a member of the permanent court of arbitration at the Hague, he rendered unselfish service. His contributions and devotion to the public welfare and to humanity will remain as an example to others. Please accept my sincere sympathy.

"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

Walsh Presses Fight For Perjury Action

(By Associated Press.)

Senator Walsh (Democrat), of Montana, renewed his fight yesterday before the Senate judiciary committee for his resolution calling on Attorney General Sergeant to state whether he intends to bring perjury charges against George B. Hayes, a New York lawyer and the government's surprise witness at the Montana trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler.

The Attorney General declined to state his intention to the committee and a majority agreed with him that he could not be compelled to do so by the Senate. Senator Walsh took a different view in a brief filed with the committee in which he asserted that there was ample precedent for the action proposed.

MacNider Assails Brookhart's Record

In an open letter Hanford MacNider, Assistant Secretary of War, yesterday assailed the record of former Senator Brookhart, and announced his support of Senator Cummins for the senatorial nomination in the forthcoming Iowa primary.

"One can sympathize with Mr. Brookhart's own farming troubles, but couldn't he do better if he stayed on the farm?" Mr. MacNider asks. "In Washington, let's have some one who has something to offer, some one who commands respect, some one who can give Iowa constructive legislation on the floor of the Senate. I am for Albert B. Cummins."

ENGLAND IS NEAR CIVIL WAR, BALDWIN TELLS COMMONS

he had heard of the threatened general strike Saturday afternoon, he had decided to ask representatives of the Trades Union congress to see him Saturday night. He said that he had offered suspension of the owners' notices regarding wages and hours and offered continuance of the subsidy payment if the trades union council could be confident that a settlement was possible on the basis of the coal commission's report. Until early Sunday he had striven for this compromise, he said. The discussions were renewed on Sunday.

"Let not the house underestimate the risks I ran in negotiating like that up to the last minute under the threat of a general strike," the premier said. This invoked conservative cheers.

After the general strike had been ordered, the premier said, it was impossible for him to continue the negotiations.

Mr. Lloyd George proposed that the miners be asked to discuss wages, but not to pledge themselves to reductions in advance.

He begged the government once more to make an effort for peace. If there was a disposition to resume the negotiations, he said, the government should make its position clear, and should also state whether it would preside over the negotiations.

In such circumstances, he believed the house should agree to a limited contribution of the coal subsidy.

Revolution Peril Denied.

Referring to Premier Baldwin's remark about civil war, Mr. Lloyd George said that if a ballot were taken in Great Britain not two per cent of the people would vote for revolution.

"This situation is not revolution," he said, "but a plain economic dispute in which justice is wanted."

Mr. Lloyd George despaired of the situation except through parliamentary action. He declared that the members of the trades union congress, who ordered the strike were as little revolutionary as any one in the house of commons and that the government could well continue the negotiations without loss of rights or positions.

Former Premier MacDonald appealed to the members of the house of commons, whether it were not possible in their hour of trial to raise themselves and put that trial under their feet, thereby gaining a great triumph.

If the coal owners and the miners were left alone to settle the question of wages, he said, there would be and could be no settlement.

Troops Ready for Action.

One thousand troops were landed at Liverpool yesterday and proceeded to the famous Aintree race course. They are being held in readiness to move to any part of Lancashire at a moment's notice.

A government spokesman, talking to the newspaper men at noon yesterday, said: "News from the country is eminently satisfactory. There is no excitement and everything is normal. Offers of services are pouring in all over the country. Food stocks are normal, taking the country as a whole, and in many cases they are above the average."

The members met in a spirit of outward calm, but the underlying tension was apparent in the almost hysterical laughter with which small matters were received. Clearly they were anxious to come to grips with the problem.

The house was crowded with visitors and the peers' gallery was filled. Among the peers present were the Duke of York, second son of King George, and the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Premier Baldwin entered in the midst of the questions. All the conservatives arose, waved their question papers and cheered. There was some ironical laughter from the opposition to which the ministerialists gave counter cheers amidst a conservative cry, "No soviets in this country."

J. H. Thomas, secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, entering shortly afterward, received a similar labor ovation, as did former Premier Ramsey MacDonald, the labor chief, while the conservatives laughed.

BRITISH LABOR, IN REVOLT, QUITS WORK TO AID MINERS

ders went from London and a refusal to print any more editions followed.

The king came to London from Windsor yesterday afternoon, and received first-hand accounts of all phases of the crisis.

Neither the government nor the Trades Union congress issued any statement regarding the conversations previously reported in the house of commons on which hope of renewal of negotiations was temporarily based.

The strike became immediately effective at midnight, excepting that the railway men and other transportation workers, in accordance with union orders, completed the shifts which overlapped midnight and took their trains and street cars to their destinations.

The actual position in dispute as between the government and the miners is, the miners' leaders contend, that the men should not be asked to accept reduced wages and lengthened hours until the government has taken steps to put into operation the recommendations for the reorganization of the mining industry made by the royal commission.

$18 a Week Is Top Wage.

According to estimates by impartial experts, the miners' wages vary from 75 shillings ($18) weekly for the highest paid skilled workers, to 45 shillings for unskilled men, and, in addition, the men generally receive gratis supplies of household coal.

The commission's report, although it did not precisely exclude the possibility of longer hours of work, emphasized the hope that such lengthening would not be necessary, because, in the commission's opinion, longer hours would bring increasing unemployment, and probably would cause an extension of hours of work in the Continental coal fields, thus increasing competition and leaving the situation as bad as before.

Up to the present the government has made promises of putting the commission's recommendations into effect, but no step of any kind to that end has been taken in parliament.

The labor leaders argue that the mine owners, in demanding an eight-hour day, as well as a reduction in wages, are going beyond the commission's recommendations. And they also complain that the government, instead of assuming an impartial attitude, is distinctly supporting the owners.

The ministers, on their side, contend that the miners ought to be satisfied to accept a temporary reduction of wages along with the undertaking by the government that it will put the commission's report into legislative effect. The miners retort to this that the regulation of the industry as advised by the commission would take three years or more to complete and that the miners can not be expected to suffer a reduced standard of living for such a long period.

The scenes at Westminister, while the crowds awaited news of the final peace moves, were reminiscent of July, 1914, the early days of the world war. Downing street was completely impassable, and the crowds lining both sides of Bridge street, leading to the houses of parliament, and Parliament square itself, were estimated at many thousands, silently but anxiously watching the comings and goings of the members of parliament and other prominent personages.

A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners' federation, on leaving the precincts of the house shortly before midnight, said to the newspaper men:

"They have failed; the general strike is on tomorrow."

Similar scenes were witnessed around the headquarters of the Trades Union congress in Eccleston square, which, throughout the evening, was beseiged by volunteers offering their services. Late in the evening, from the room where the council was sitting, came the strains of "Glory, Glory Hallelujah" and the singing continued for several minutes.

It seems as if a general stoppage of the press will be immediate, as many of the London papers were able to issue only early editions for the country, the printers quitting at midnight.

All the wartime routine measures so far as concerns vital supplies are being put into effect at once and there will probably be wartime regulations for the protection of the public. Theater managers held a meeting last night to discuss whether they should close down during the strike period, but no decision was reached.

A section of the crowd outside of parliament amused itself for nearly an hour by singing, "The Red Flag" and cheering for the miners. Another section vigorously sang, "God Save the King." It looked at times as if trouble were brewing, but the police managed to keep the crowds moving and thus prevented disorders.

A. J. Cook, in a statement, said: "The government right up to the last has taken the side of the owners and has interpreted the royal commission's report to mean an immediate reduction of wages for the miners. That we have refused to accept and will continue to refuse by the help of the whole trade-union movement.

"The only terms of peace that are possible are terms that will insure the status quo for the miners in the coal fields while reorganization is taking place."

"Blundering Into Strife."

Only one evening paper published in London yesterday. All the other papers suffered from printers' strikes, in one case due to an attempt to reprint the Daily Mail editorial.

"We seem to be blundering into civil strife, much as weary diplomatists blundered into the great war," said the Star. "We shall 'muddle through,' but at what cost."

The Daily Mail office, the center of this extraordinary incident, presented a strangely deserted aspect in contrast to its usual bustling activities, and as a symbol of its loyalty to the national interest, it had hoisted a huge union jack over the roof, but for some unexplained reason, it was a very tattered flag, with two big holes in the center.

Workers in Other Lands Support British Strikers

Amsterdam, Holland, May 3 (By A. P.).—M. Oudegeest, secretary of the International Federation of Trade unions, embracing the unions of 23 countries announces that the federation will strongly support the British Trades Union congress. He is of the opinion, however, that the British organization could hold out four or five weeks without European financial assistance and he does not believe the strike will last longer than that.

Essen, Germany, May 3 (By A. P.).—The German Miners' Federation in a manifesto today declares it will act strictly in accordance with the international miners agreement at Brussels, and prevent the transportation of coal from Germany to England during the British coal strike.

Rotterdam, May 3 (By A. P.).—The Rotterdam Transport Workers federation today distributed a manifesto to the dock workers and exporting men directing them not to assist in loading coal for Great Britain.

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Paris, May 3.—The French miners, through their union representing 40 per cent of the workers will hold a meeting with the railroad men and dock workers tomorrow to take measures to prevent French coal from being shipped to England during the coal crisis.

STRIKE IS STRICTLY A BRITISH PROBLEM, OFFICIALS HERE SAY

U. S. Not to Be Involved in Any Way, According to Present Indications.

GREEN WILL ANNOUNCE STAND OF FEDERATION

Labor's President on Way to Capital, Where Policy Will Be Determined.

While officialdom yesterday followed very closely the developments in the general strike situation convulsing England, there were no indications that this country would become involved in any way. It is accepted that this is in every way a British domestic incident and it is too early as yet to determine whether it will have any effect on American exports and the like.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, was in Washington and held a somewhat lengthy conference with James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor. It was stated there was no connection between this meeting and the British industrial catastrophe. Reports that one of the objects of the visit to this city of the miners' chieftain was to talk over with officials and members of Congress whether it would be possible for an embargo to be placed on coal shipments to Europe came in for a denial. No such action is considered possible at this time.

U. S. Labor in Sympathy.

There was little question that organized labor in this country was in every way in complete sympathy with the demands of the organized British workers. Secretary of Labor Davis and President Lewis agreed that on the face of the figures available the miners were unable to make a living wage without the subsidy. It is expected that should the strike go to a finish and the last desperate efforts to localize it or to rob it of its chief terrors fail then the union workers of the United States will act promptly to aid their fellows on the other side of the ocean.

It was pointed out in labor circles yesterday that at the present time there is no serious labor trouble in this country and that the various unions, especially those which are international in scope, are in a position to be very liberal in furnishing the sinews of war to their brethren over seas.

Green on Way Here.

Coshocton, Ohio, May 3 (By A. P.).—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who spent the week-end at his home here, said today he would announce the stand of organized labor in this country on the English geenral strike probably tomorrow, at headquarters of the American Federation of Labor in Washington. He left for the Capital today.

Mr. Green said he was not in a position to issue such a statement until he had conferred with other officials of the federation, and referred to data in the federation offices.

Record Tourist Travel, In Sight, May Be Lost

New York, May 3 (By A. P.).—Disruption of what promised to be a record trans-Atlantic tourist service may result if the general strike in England extends through May, officials and representatives of the British seamen said here tonight. Estimates of the number of tourists going to Europe this summer based on advanced bookings reached as high as half a million persons.

Late today there had been no cancellations of booking on the Cunarder Aquitania, due to sail for England tomorrow night. The 837 seamen and stewards aboard the vessel, all of whom are members of the British transport workers union, said that they would sail the Aquitania home regardless of the strike, but that immediately upon reaching England they would be compelled to walk out.

By next Friday, when the Olympic, of the White Star Line, and the Berengaria, of the Cunard Line, have arrived it is estimated that fully 8,000 British stewards and seamen will be in New York.

The strike is expected to have little effect upon the tourist business of the United States lines, an official of the lines said tonight. It is possible that Leviathan will be forced to eliminate its return stop at Southampton and ply directly between New York and Cherbroug. The Leviathan is the only United States liner which docks at any British port, the other lines merely entering the harbors and taking on passengers by tender.

Warrant for Saklatvala Charges Seditious Speech

London, May 3 (By A. P.).—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Shapurji Saklatvala, communist member of the house of commons, on a charge of making a seditious speech in Hyde Park yesterday, the Westminster Gazette says today.

Saklatvala, who is the only communist member in the house of commons, came into notice in the United States last year when the Department of State barred his entrance to the United States as a revolutionist. He had been appointed a representative of Great Britain at the interparliamentary union conference at Washington but abandoned his visit when Secretary Kellogg announced that he would be barred.

The civil liberties union in the United States protested against his exclusion but President Coolidge indorsed the ban on him.

ISSUE OF FARM AID TO FORE AS INDIANA CASTS VOTE TODAY

Two Senate Seats and 13 in the House Are at Stake; Oratory Ended.

WATSON CAMP IN PANIC, ADAMS, OPPONENT, SAYS

Senator's Manager, However, Asserts His Majority Will Be Large.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 3 (By A. P.).—Indiana's favorite sport—politics—enters the tournaments tomorrow, when Democrats and Republicans select party champions at a primary election. Nominees for two places in the United States Senate, thirteen congressional seats, house and senate of the State assembly and minor county and precinct offices will be chosen.

The written word today superseded oratory as the rival senatorial camps issued statements indicating confidence of victory. Prediction of fair weather for tomorrow renewed speculation of voting in rural regions. Farmers, because of the late spring, are taking advantage of every fair day, and may not abandon their furrows even to vote.

Senator James E. Watson, candidate for the Republican long-term nomination, from Washington, thanked his workers but refrained from prognosticating. His manager, John Motto, of Warsaw, however, said: "If there are 350,000 Republican votes cast, Senator Watson's majority will be 150,000."

Watson "Panic" Is Seen.

Claris Adams, of Indianapolis, opponent of Watson, in predicting his nomination, said the Watson campaign "began in desperation and ended in a panic." He said his nomination would be a "referendum vote in favor of the farmer."

Senator Arthur R. Robinson, seeking the short term Republican nomination, in a final statement set forth some of the principles for which he stands. Farm legislation is imperative, he said.

The candidates for senatorial honors are: Long term, Republican—James E. Watson, Rushville; Claris Adams, Indianapolis; Democratic—L. Ert Slack, Albert Stump, L. William Curry, all of Indianapolis; William A. Cullop, of Vincennes; George Rauch, of Marion, and John E. Frederick, of Kokomo.

Short term: Republican—Arthur R. Robinson, Ward Hiner and James R. Norrell, all of Indianapolis, and Oswald Ryan, of Anderson, and A. G. Graham, of South Bend; Democrat—Evans Woollen, Indianapolis.

WOMAN SEEKS RIGHT TO OPPOSE WILLIS

Judge Florence E. Allen After Democratic Nomination for the Senate.

Columbus, Ohio, May 3 (By A. P.).—Frank B. Willis, Ohio's senior United States senator, may have to contest with a woman for election.

This possibility depends upon the ability of Justice Florence E. Allen, of the State supreme court to win the Democratic nomination over Cyrus Locher, director of commerce in Gov. Vic Donahey's cabinet, and Attorney Frank F. Gentsch, in the August 10 primary.

Miss Allen was elected to the supreme bench on a nonpartisan ticket. Gentsch is seeking the nomination on an anti-Volstead law and anti-Ku Klux Klan platform. Gov. Donahey is expected to win renomination for a third term over A. P. Sandles and James C. B. Beatty, his only opponents so far.

Senator Willis already is planning his campaign on the theory that he will have Miss Allen for his opponent. She is making a vigorous campaign for the nomination.

VANDERBILT PAPER IN RECEIVER'S HANDS

Los Angeles Publication Is Involved; One in Frisco Is Suspended.

Los Angeles, May 3 (By A. P.).—Meredith C. Snyder, former mayor of Los Angeles, late today was named receiver for the Illustrated Daily News, Los Angeles tabloid newspaper.

Petition for a receiver was filed in Federal court earlier in the day by Vanderbilt Newspapers, Inc., the holding company for the three tabloids established in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Miami by Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr.

The Daily News Publishing Co. filed an answer to the petition in which it joined in asking the appointment of a receiver. Bonds for the receiver were placed at $100,000.

Slayer of Americans Reported Shot Dead

Salta, Argentine, May 3 (By A. P.).—A man believed to have been one of the murderers of two American citizens, slain near the Bolivian frontier last week, was killed by the police near here yesterday while he was trying to flee to the mountains.

The American victims of last week's murder were William Theisner and Carlos Hettman, who were slain by bandits as they were driving in an automobile.

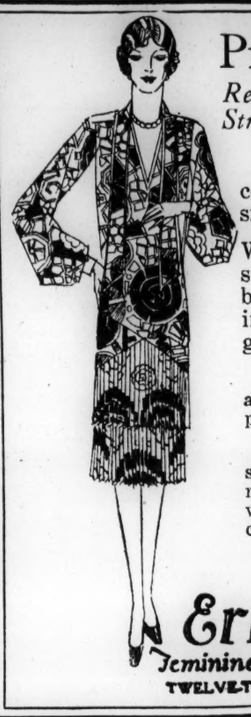

PORTO RICANS APPEAL FOR MORE SELF-RULE

Delegation Tells President Island Has Shown Enough Ability.

Another appeal for a higher degree of self-government for Porto Rico was made directly yesterday to President Coolidge by the Porto Rican delegation to the United States. The attention of the executive was directed to the fact that the administration and the Senate already are committed to such action. In a memorial that was left with the President they set forth:

"It is our belief that we are justified in claiming that the time has come when we, American citizens that we are, may with entire safety assume full responsibility in the management of our own affairs. The work we have accomplished, and with which you are familiar, should be to you a guarantee that the work we will accomplish in the future for the welfare of our people, such as sanitation, road building, the elevation of labor, the lessening of the burden of poverty, the wiping out of illiteracy, shall be such as to bring continued credit to ourselves and honor to the other Commonwealths of the Union."

The delegation was introduced by Gov. Horace M. Towner. It comprised Felix Cordova Daviba, the Porto Rican resident commissioner; Antonio R. Barcelo, president of the Porto Rican senate; Jose Tous Soto, speaker of the Porto Rican house; Manuel Guerra-Mondragon, E. Gonzalez Mena, J. B. Garcia Mendez and Frank A. Martinez.

IT is General Motors' policy to put its products into the hands of the purchaser at the lowest possible cost.

As far back as 1919, it organized the General Motors Acceptance Corporation—a finance company through whose service more than 1,000,000 families have bought cars comfortably out of income.

On August 1 last, the price of this service, which had always been low, was still further reduced, and GMAC rates were made standard for all General Motors cars sold on time.

The automobile-buying public is now saving millions of dollars annually as a result of this reduction and the influence of General Motors leadership.

THE DIE CAST IN BRITAIN.

The statement issued on behalf of the British government at 1 o'clock yesterday morning seems to make it certain that the general strike, which had been ordered by the council of the Trades Union congress, can not now be averted. The responsible ministers of the crown have signified their intention of breaking off negotiations with the labor leaders on the twofold ground, that the general strike was called while the question of the acceptance of the coal commission's report was still under discussion and undecided, and that, in advance even of the strike, overt acts had already taken place, including gross interference with the freedom of the press. The ministers consider each of these actions separately and both taken together as a challenge to the constitutional rights and freedom of the British nation and therefore, as a condition precedent to the resumption of negotiations, they demanded from the Trades Union congress both an immediate unconditional withdrawal of the instructions for a general strike and a repudiation of the overt acts complained of. The Trades Union congress, believing itself strongly entrenched behind a solidarity of organized labor never before achieved in Britain, is in no mood to yield to the demand on either point. A conflict is thus precipitated, which will ultimately decide who shall rule in Britain, which must necessarily entail the gravest economic losses, as well as immediate inconvenience and suffering to the public, and which may involve constitutional consequences and changes which no man at present can foresee.

The particular overt act to which ministers referred is generally understood to be the strike of the printers on the Daily Mail. The printers, taking exception to the wording of a proposed editorial on the strike situation entitled "For King and Country," demanded alterations therein and, on the refusal of the editor to comply, ceased work. They were supported by the machine managers, stereotypers and packers and the result was that the paper failed to appear yesterday morning.

The editorial, which has thus attained so much importance, contained the following paragraphs:

> We do not wish to say anything hard about the miners themselves. As to their leaders, all we need say at the moment is that some of them are under the influence of people who mean no good to this country.
> A general strike is not an industrial dispute: it is a revolutionary movement intended to inflict suffering upon the great mass of innocent persons and thereby put forcible restraint upon the government. It is a movement that can only succeed by destroying the government and subverting the rights and liberties of the people.
> This being the case, it can not be tolerated by any civilized government and must be dealt with by every resource at the disposal of the community. A state of emergency and national danger has been proclaimed to resist the attack. We call upon all law-abiding men and women to hold themselves at the service of king and country.

Any fair-minded person will at once see that the foregoing is fair and patriotic comment on a matter of public policy, and therefore scarcely called for the drastic action which it evoked, and which gave the government a handle which it was prompt to use. Unless the press is free to express its opinion within the law, there is no freedom.

One hopes that, even at the last moment, a way out of the impasse which has been created will be found. The situation is so acute that feelings may be easily inflamed, and irreparable acts of violence might unthinkingly be committed. Wise heads and firm hands are needed at this juncture to guide the British ship of state safely through the dangers which encompass it.

Which side is right? Well, you never heard a man called a hypocrite for espousing the wrong side.

A NORTHEAST PLAYGROUND.

Representative Bloom, of New York, has introduced in the House a bill providing for the purchase of the so-called Patterson tract of land on Florida avenue and its conversion into a recreation park for the northeast section of Washington, at a cost of $600,000. During the war a part of this land was used as a military camp, known as Camp Meigs, but the government long since abandoned it. Since then it has been frequently proposed that it be purchased for a District park and playgrounds, and it has been recommended for that purpose by the national park commission.

Northeast Washington is the only division of the National Capital that has no playground of any kind. The children are forced into the streets or vacant lots, and there have been frequent serious accidents when the youngsters have been run down by automobiles. The citizens of Northeast Washington have petitioned the commissioners and the park commission several times to have a recreation grounds constructed for that section, but no action has been taken and Congress has failed to authorize the purchase of the required ground. In speaking of his bill, Mr. Bloom says:

> There are hundreds, even thousands, of growing boys and girls who should have real recreation ground where they can play baseball, tennis, football and other outdoor sports which they can not possibly indulge in on the streets. Large parks have been provided along the Potomac river and in other parts of the city, but these are too far away for groups of young people to gather and indulge in wholesome play except on holidays when there is sufficient time to make the long journey to and from home.

The New York representative added that while it is no doubt important to obtain land for park purposes along the Potomac river and Rock Creek valley for the sake of the beautification of the city, it is even more important to provide for the young people of the Northeast section of Washington convenient recreational grounds which will keep them off the streets.

The Patterson tract is directly on the car line which passes the Technical High and Business High schools. Neither of these schools has any drill ground. If transformed into a park it would make also an excellent place for the high school boys to drill. But the urgent need is for a park where the boys and girls of that section can play. Northeast Washington has just as good a right to a playground as any other section of the city. It should have one not only for the sake of the children's health but also for their safety. It is to be hoped that Congress will act favorably on Mr. Bloom's bill.

Ah, yes; there are sex things in the Bible. But they aren't there to promote sales.

FARM RELIEF PLANS.

Congress is about to discuss several bills aimed at "farm relief." Many farmers have become convinced that they are suffering from conditions which can be relieved by law. Leaders of farm movements, some of them real farmers and others farmers of farmers, have brought forth astonishing economic and financial propositions and have induced some members of Congress to support them.

Several variations of the same plan are proposed, but in substance the bills principally favored aim at nothing short of raising the price of farm products—that is, foodstuffs—to the American people, as a means of relieving agriculture. It is contended that the protective tariff does not give agriculture a square deal; that industry is not only unduly protected, but that it has means at its disposal for exerting influence on the price of its products, which the farmer has not; that there is an unavoidable surplus of certain farm products, and that the price of this surplus determines the price of the whole crop; that the farmers have not the power to control production to such an extent as to avoid creating this surplus; that they are not yet organized sufficiently to dispose of this surplus through their cooperative market agencies; and therefore that Congress must create a board which shall dispose of this surplus, taking money from the Treasury with which to finance the operation.

The proposed farm board is to take this surplus off the farmers' hands, pay them for it, and then sell the surplus if it can. No one says anything about the maintenance or enhancement of the price on the part that does not constitute a surplus. That, presumably, is to remain as high as at present, and with the surplus out of the way there is no reason why the price of the whole product should not be increased. Eventually the losses in handling the surplus are to be made up by an equalization fee assessed equitably against the product itself—that is, the assurance is given that eventually the farmers will pay their own way in handling the surpluses they produce. But that arrangement is left to the future. For the present the taxpayers, through the Treasury, are to finance the plan. The bills call for appropriations ranging from $250,000,000 to $375,000,000, and one of them authorizes the proposed farm board to issue debentures to the extent of $1,000,000,000.

If such proposals were made in behalf of any manufacturing industry the country would howl from one end to the other. But it is urged in behalf of agriculture that it is a "basic industry," upon which the whole country depends. Therefore, what would be an inexcusable raid on the Treasury is favor of a special interest, if consummated for a manufacturing industry, is described as a necessity and a proper proceeding when consummated in favor of agriculture.

Less than one-half of the people are engaged in agriculture. They are to be taxed for the benefit of the minority; and the tax is not to be merely a direct appropriation from the Treasury, but is to be followed by an increase in the cost of food.

In all the hearings upon the farm bills, not one fact has been elicited to show that the protective tariff works against the farmer. All his products are protected by a duty proposed by the farm bloc itself; and all commodities consumed by him are on the free list which was prepared by the farm bloc. In the making of the tariff the only industry which obtained all it sought was agriculture.

It is true that agriculture is a basic industry and that it must not be permitted to suffer. The remedy, however, is not to be found in violating the rule of just and equal taxation without regard to classes. It is not to be found by making the government responsible for crop surpluses—surpluses which would immediately grow to huge proportions as soon as the farmers learned that all they could grow would be taken off their hands at a profit.

The remedy is to be found by applying business methods to agricultural production and marketing. American agriculture is capable of organizing itself. It has not done so, except in a political sense. Unwieldy surpluses can be avoided by cooperation, and distribution can be kept at an even flow by cooperation. If the world can not or will not buy surplus American corn, it is up to the farmers to cut down the corn crop and raise something else. The experience in raising wheat during the war is a warning of what agriculture can do when encouraged by high and fixed prices. The country can raise vastly more than it can consume, and the farmers will increase their crops enormously if the government should undertake to finance their surplus. The end will be disaster to the Treasury and eventually to the farmers.

American consumers will protest against this plan. They will not consent to be taxed to finance surplus crops or surplus manufactured products. They will pay for food what is required under the rule of supply and demand, but they will not tolerate a plan which, while ostensibly merely working off a surplus, will actually raise the price of food in the home market.

These matters are to be thrashed out in Congress. Let us hope that there will be a majority possessed of sufficient economic sense and political courage to refuse to approve the proposed imposition of a tax upon the consuming class to favor the producing class.

A henpecked husband must get more or less sneaking satisfaction out of being robbed on the way home.

THE HARDING MEMORIAL.

On Memorial day, May 30, the corner stone of the Harding memorial at Marion, Ohio, will be laid with appropriate ceremonies. The work on the foundation has been under way for some time and the marble work will be started early in June. It is hoped to have the memorial completed so that it can be dedicated November 2, the anniversary of the late President's birth, and the day upon which he was elected to the Presidency in 1920.

The Harding memorial, which will be the costliest and most magnificent ever erected in memory of a departed President of the United States, with the exception, of course, of the Lincoln memorial in Washington and the Washington monument, will be 80 feet in diameter and 52 feet high. The plan is that of a Grecian-Roman temple—an open circle of white marble. It occupies a site on one of the main roads leading to Marion just south of the Harding home, from the porch of which Mr. Harding conducted his memorable campaign in 1920.

The Harding home was bequeathed by Mrs. Harding to the Harding Memorial association together with the furniture used in the President's lifetime, and all the presents, souvenirs and mementos received during the Harding administration. The lower floor of the house has been converted into a museum and a small fee is charged for admission. The money thus received will be used to endow the home and erect a larger building that will be a more suitable storehouse for the Harding relics.

Funds sufficient to complete the Harding memorial have been subscribed, but additional money will be required to complete the landscape and provide for its proper upkeep. Undoubtedly, the American people will contribute generously to this fund, that the memorial, erected in honor of one of the most beloved of Presidents, may be maintained in the right way.

HELPING THE COURTS.

Chief Justice Taft and other Federal judges appeared before the House committee on immigration recently to indorse the bill which would relieve Federal courts of much of the detail in connection with the naturalization of aliens.

The bill permits the appointment of naturalization commissioners by Federal district judges in the large cities who would hear the petitions of applicants for naturalization, examine their character witnesses and administer the oaths of renunciation and allegiance to accepted candidates for citizenship.

It is believed that such a law would materially reduce the work of the courts and judges. Naturalization is not really court work, and judges are needed to try cases, not to devote their time and energy in hearing naturalization applications. Some of the judges in the large cities are swamped with naturalization cases. It makes going to court burdensome to litigants, and delays real cases.

The bill proposes to have attaches of the naturalization bureau appointed to do the detail work, without extra compensation.

You can say one thing for the "common mind" sneered at by highbrows. It's the one you find common sense in.

THE PARKER BILL.

Representative Parker's railroad consolidation bill differs from the Cummins bill which provides for a voluntary period of only five years, and requires the Interstate Commerce Commission to promulgate a plan for the completion of such consolidations as it deems desirable.

The Parker bill provides that at the expiration of seven years it shall be the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to report to Congress the extent to which unifications have taken place in accordance with the act, and its recommendations for further procedure.

It declares also that the general policy of the country is to provide for an adequate and efficient transportation service to preserve weak and short lines, to unite the carriers into a number of strong and efficient and well-balanced systems that will maintain existing routes and channels of trade and commerce, and to preserve executive competition in service, moving freight and passengers at the lowest rate compatible with adequate and efficient transportation service.

The Worst Story I Heard Today—By Will Rogers

The Worst Joke I heard today was told by Chauncey Depew, that grand old man who was 92 years old the other day and he told some jokes on his birthday. He did not tell me this personally, but he did tell it to the newspapermen. I saw him two years ago when he come to the Follies and got the best of me when I asked him to speak. I wish I could meet him again, for if ever there was a remarkable man it is Chauncey Depew. I have just read his book about all his years in politics and all the great men that he has been associated with. He has known every President from Lincoln to Al Smith. And here is one for you that holler about exercise. He says himself he never took any exercise in his life, smokes and drinks—in moderation of course. So here is everybody wishing him another 92 years. I hope he lives to see the day the New York Central will get off 10th Ave. Here is a good one of Chauncey's:

Gen. Kitchener, that great English Soldier and hardy Bachelor, was commanding in India and one day a soldier come and wanted leave to go home to England to be married.

"Getting married is a very serious business young man, wait a year and if you are still of the same mind, come back and I will give you leave."

At the end of the year the fellow came back and Gen. Kitchener complimented him on his constancy. The young officer turned as he was leaving and said:

"General, I think, in view of your compliment, I ought to tell you it's not the same Girl."

The Mirage.

PRESS COMMENT.

The King's English.

Philadelphia Record: St. John Ervine, the Irish playwright, in a recent discussion of good English, made the statement that the Prince of Wales is far from being above reproach in his use of the language. The prince's tongue has a cockney twang, he declares, and, for one thing, he says "howp" when he means "hope." This criticism is probably just. Certainly it is true that even well-educated Englishmen curiously mispronounce some of the simplest English words. Alfred Noyes, the poet, for instance, has often annoyed—or at least surprised and amused—American audiences by his persistence in speaking of "poyts" and "poytry" when he means poets and poetry.

A Hole in One.

New York Telegraph: Some wisecracker pulled off a good one on a golfer on a Broadway corner. Discussing golf, of which they were both admitted experts, he said he bought a pair of socks in the morning and before the afternoon was gone he had made a hole in one.

Political Aid Bills.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Why hasn't some congressman given the proper name to these farm relief measures and called them politicians' aid bills.

Home Is Home.

Philadelphia Ledger: Travelers returning from a cruise to Africa, where they saw diamonds valued at $6,500,000 spread out on a table, were not so much impressed with that glimpse of affluence as they were by the sight of that tiny island, Tristan da Cunha, in the middle of the south Atlantic, where 127 persons have only fish, potatoes, grass and wild cattle to live upon. From their shipboard abundance they set afloat a raft, to be carried through the surf to the islanders. But the sturdy inhabitants do not think they are poor, though this was the first ship in two years to come within hailing distance of their isolation. They have refused the offer of the South African government to give them farms ashore. They would not sacrifice their storm-beaten rock for acres of diamonds. It is their home.

A New Kind of Steel.

Brooklyn Eagle: A new steel 40 per cent lighter and 30 per cent cheaper than what is now made has been discovered by a Zurich, Switzerland, chemist. Its chief use will be in shipbuilding, and the Swiss republic can't use it. She has no waterfront.

What They Would Do.

Detroit News: While they have not been solicited so far for advice, the Van Sweringen boys' solution of the Tacna-Arica matter would probably be to amalgamate Chile and Peru.

Britain's Unemployment.

New York Post: For the first time in five and a half years, the number of unemployed workmen in Great Britain has fallen below the million mark. Before the war unemployment figures of 400,000 to 500,000 were considered normal. More than 200,000 names have been wiped off the lists since the last of January and twice that number since October. Another spurt or two in this direction and the goal of normal times would be reached. This is a bright spot on England's industrial horizon at a moment when the issue of a general strike growing out of the coal war hangs in the balance. What a total disruption of the country's business and industry would do to this budding prospect of better times goes without saying. The issue is a test for proverbial British sanity.

The South and Al Smith.

Richmond Times-Dispatch: The Washington Post believes "the governor's journey into the solid South has much significance." It believes that "his acceptance of the invitation means that he desires to find out just how he stands among the Democrats of the Southern States." It says, too, that while "in the last national convention the Southern delegates were almost a unit against Gov. Smith there are indications that they have had a change of heart."

If there has been a change of heart toward Gov. Smith in the Southern States no indications of that change have reached Virginia. It is true that when the governor, through his proxy, Mayor Walker, of New York city, went to Georgia on a mission similar to the one which is said to be bringing him to Virginia, he received a most cordial reception. There is perhaps not a Southern State that would not give him a cordial welcome. Certainly his welcome to Virginia will be just as warm as Virginia hospitality can make it, for Virginia likes Al Smith, and it will be glad to honor him as a leader among the Democrats whom his own State has honored repeatedly. But that cordial reception on the part of Virginia will not mean that Virginia has changed or will change in the slightest degree from the attitude which it has assumed toward his ambition to receive his party's nomination for the Presidency. It may not be just; this newspaper does not undertake to pass on the justice or the injustice which raises the religious bar against Gov. Smith, but the fact need not be blinked that the bar is there and that as long as that bar is raised it would be the sheerest political futility to throw away the party's nomination. Unless a political miracle takes place between now and 1928 the chances of the Democratic party will not be especially bright. Truth compels that admission. With Gov. Smith leading the ticket, or with such a debacle as marked the convention in 1924, the party would better shut up its political shop during the coming campaign.

Mellon Was Right.

New York Telegram: The final figures from the Treasury Department on the income tax collections for March, 1926, are now at hand. They disclose aggregate receipts from this source of $504,141,356.18. There has been an increase of $65,412,739.94 over the same month of 1925.

Here in plain and irrefutable black and white is the refutation of the clamor in Congress and out of Congress that decreasing the surtaxes and relieving the wealthier taxpayers of the necessity of protecting their incomes by investment in tax-free securities would not help Treasury receipts.

Secretary Mellon, from the beginning of the campaign to bring taxes down, has insisted that relief would work to the benefit of industry without curtailing the national revenues. He was right and his enemies were wrong.

Congressional Vagaries.

Dayton News: The House of Representatives passed a ten-year building program, but it balks at anything like a real reforestation program.

Defending Critics We Despise

By GLENN FRANK.

CRITICS are the advance agent of progress.

An institution through which the clean and antiseptic air of doubt is never permitted to blow is bound to become stuffy.

An individual who never permits his motives or his methods to be severely questioned is bound to become poisoned by that most poisonous of all poisons—self-complacency.

This means, for the individual, as I said the other day, that he must be sensitive to criticism without being touchy toward critics.

It means, for the nation, that we must realize that a man can, with entire consistency, defend the rights of a minority, although he differs from and heartily despises its views.

It means further that we must realize that the safety as well as the progress of the nation depends upon our thus defending the right of the critic to criticize.

The spirit of this socially necessary tolerance was admirably illustrated by Voltaire, in a letter to Helvetius, from which I think I have quoted before, in which he said:

"I wholly disapprove of what you say, and will defend to the death your right to say it."

It is gratifying to know that American history is not without striking examples of this sort of Voltarian tolerance.

John Adams, distinguished American patriot, defended the British soldiers involved in the Boston massacre.

Alexander Hamilton represented British loyalists.

General Grant insisted upon amnesty for Robert E. Lee.

When, a few years ago, legally elected Socialists were read out of their seats in the assembly of the New York legislature, the first effective protest against this denial of minority rights was made, not by Eugene Debs, a radical, but by Charles Evans Hughes, a conservative.

And it is well to remember, in any discussion of the national value of tolerance toward critics, that there is no such thing as tolerance except tolerance for an idea that we regard as false and, perhaps, dangerous.

If we regard an idea as sound or an action as safe, to say that we are tolerant toward it is simply playing with words.

One of the first essentials to the spirit of healthy growth in our national life is a clear recognition of the fact that a good American can insist upon the right of critics to criticize without himself being a secret emissary of Leon Trotsky or a confidant of Emma Goldman.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Stone Mountain Memorial.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War have protested to Congress against the erection of the Confederate memorial on Stone mountain.

Are these good women following the wishes of their brave dead who won the battles that preserved the Union? I doubt it. Did there ever in the history of mankind exist more daring or worthy foemen than the starving, battle-scarred men of the South, fighting with desperation to the bitter end in a lost cause? I think not.

As a Pennsylvanian, a member of the Loyal Legion and the Sons of Veterans, whose father, uncles and cousins served in the Union forces, I can scarcely be accused of Southern partisanship. Yet I am one of thousands of Northerners who were eager and proud to contribute their mite that this enduring monument be completed. It would be an act of piety if every man, woman and child in the North today were to aid this splendid undertaking, if only to expiate in little measure the disgraceful work of carpetbaggers and politicians of the North during the dreadful days of reconstruction. The martyred Lincoln and the fighting men can not be blamed for the graft, insult and stupidity that were heaped upon a helpless and suffering people who had surrendered to a powerful enemy after enduring such enormous odds. How few of us in the North have been taught the truth about those infamous days? The recollection of them is bitter to any fair-minded man who reads of them.

By all means erect the Confederate memorial as a tribute to valorous men who had the courage to risk their fortunes and their lives in the defense of what they considered right!

LOUIS ESTELL FAGAN,
Washington, April 30.

Let the Boys Go.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is to be hoped that the boys of Washington old enough to avail themselves of the opportunity offered by the government in the citizens' military training camps will not throw away the chance. The National Capital ought to be well represented. It should fill its quota. I am informed that the training camps will be opened in June and continue through July and August. Twenty thousand young men have already filed their applications, but it is feared that not so many will go into camps this year as last. In the last five years more than 125,000 boys have gone to the military training camps and have returned home in better condition perhaps than they ever were in their lives before. The boys of Washington should not overlook the chance to better their physical condition and at the same time learn something about military discipline, which will undoubtedly help them in the years to come.

"WHITE COLLARS" WINS PLAUDITS AT NATIONAL

Clifford Brooke, Director, Enacts Role and Pleases Audience.

ALL OF CAST DO WELL

Clifford Brooke, leaving the prosaic art of direction for a week, enacted last night the role of Cousin Henry, in Edith Ellis' "White Collars," which opened at the National for a week's run.

"White Collars," which made its premiere in Los Angeles and then came to New York, is one of the snappiest comedies that has graced the stage in many years. It is the story of a man spening another's money, theoretically, and then reneging when he discovers that it is actually spent.

The National Players have never appeared, as a whole, in a more suitable vehicle, and Mr. Brooke and Leneta Lane, as Joan Thayer, gave excellent portrayals.

The story: William Van Luyn, played by John Warner, marries his stenographer, Helen Thayer, portrayed by Kathryn Givney. Van Luyn, a millionaire, tries to put himself on an equal with his wife's relatives and succeeds in winning their affections, with the exception of Cousin Henry—one of the know-it-alls with a big heart and a semi-socialistic mind. To please his wife, and to demonstrate his democracy, Van Luyn goes to live in the East Side tenement with his wife's people. It is hot—very hot, and Cousin Henry proceeds to make it hotter by advising William what he should do with his money. Apparently William takes his advice and disposes of his property, and when Cousin Henry realizes the avalanche he has brought upon his own head he decides to go to work and accept the position in a foreign country that William has obtained for him. It all ends happily—and delightfully.

Every role is well played by the remainder of the cast, which includes William Phelps, Romaine Callender and Charles Hampden.

Goes Into Second Week At Wardman Theater

For the first time in the history of stock at Wardman theater, a play has been held over a second week. Last night witnessed the "return engagement" of "Weak Sisters," a vivid play from the pen of Lynn Starling, author of several Broadway successes of the past few seasons.

In this play Mr. Starling treads on daring ground; covered at times with pungent situations and lines—a daring theme and one handled exceedingly well by the Thomas Herbert players. The players manage to make the most of it, save for a wearily constructed last act.

The story of the play has to do with Siegfried Strong, a young clergyman who has hopes of cleaning up his home town by first ridding it of one of its palaces of pleasure. Parker Fennelly is intrusted with this role and does rather handsomely by the part. A love story runs through the piece.

Ruth Russell and Ranald Savery, Catherine Dean, Judy Shelton, Sheila Blaine, Mildred Meneau, John Schellhaus and Thomas Herbert are all well cast. The play is modeled somewhat after "Rain," since ministerial hypocrisy is the theme.

Six famous cooking experts agree

Pacific Coast, Gulf of Mexico, New England, and Lake Michigan! Six of the country's foremost cooking experts have just completed a rigorous test of the Perfection Stove.

THEY used every method of cooking from frying to baking, and were enthusiastic about the Perfection. Read what they say.

"Whether I broiled steak or French-fried potatoes, the results were fine," says Mrs. Rorer, famous Philadelphia cooking teacher.

Crisp Waffles

"My waffles were light and beautifully brown," says Miss Allen, director of The Boston School of Cookery. "They cooked on a hot flame, with yellow tips 1½ inches high above the blue area."

"I found the Perfection so dependable," reports Mrs. DeGraf, home economics counsellor. "I left a roast lamb in the oven for hours. The flame never wavered."

No Scouring Needed

"Eggs a la King and broiled tomatoes are delicious enough in themselves," affirms Miss Hall, nutrition expert, "but twice as delicious to the cook whose kettle bottoms need no scouring. Perfection's long chimneys burn every drop of oil before the heat reaches the cooking. No soot or odor."

"Using a Perfection is like cooking with gas," remarks Mrs. Vaughn, domestic science expert. And Miss Rosa Michaelis is of the same opinion.

Tested Cooking Ability

These are just a few comments made by the six experts, satisfied with only the best cooking equipment. They find the 1926 Perfection fulfills every cooking requirement.

What does it mean to you?—That when you buy a Perfection you get a stove with cooking ability tested and proved by experts.

INTEREST IS SHOWN BY BASEBALL FANS IN OFFER OF POST

46 Lucky Persons Will See World Series as Paper's Guests.

WOMEN ALSO ELIGIBLE TO WIN COVETED TRIP

Detailed Information on Unique Opportunity Given in Advertising Columns.

One of the main topics of conversation in baseball circles the last few days is the offer of The Post to pay the expenses of 46 persons—26 of them members of amateur or semiprofessional baseball teams, to the World Series games next fall.

The announcement Sunday that such an offer would be made, has created the greatest interest among baseball fans. Many requests have come to The Post asking for information on its plan.

By turning to the advertising columns, where the detailed information appears, any person interested can see how easy it will be for him or her—it's open to men and women alike—to realize his or her ambition to witness the world's championship baseball games. All this without one cent of expense to themselves.

Players Interested.

Of particular interest to the many amateur and semiprofessional teams of the community, the offer has attracted the attention of these teams in every part of the city. Virtually every baseball player in these classifications, boy or youth, is making his plans to take advantage of the offer to his fullest ability, in the hope that he will be one of the lucky chaps to ride on a Post ticket to all games of the series.

Individuals who are not members of a team also are showing the keenest kind of interest in the proposition, because 20 of them are to be chosen to make the trip.

Individuals, of course, have their friends who will assist them in this easy work. The limit of an individual's ability depends on the number of his friends and the eagerness with which he wishes to attend the games.

With the sandlotters there's a different proposition. They are to work in a group, the entire team of nine regulars with three substitutes and the manager to go in a unit. Through the cooperation of the players, all of whom have their individual friends, any team can realize this ambition.

Different Offers.

One offer is open to amateur or semiprofessional teams that are composed of players over 16 years old and within a 25 mile radius of Washington. Another offer is open to similar teams with players 16 years old or under on June 1, 1926. One complete team of 13 persons will be chosen from each of these groups to make the trip at the expense of The Post.

As for the individuals under another offer, out of the 20 that will be taken on the trip fourteen must live within the District of Columbia. Six must live within a 25 mile radius of Washington.

At Least 500 People

in Washington, every week, are looking for desirable rooms, either with or without board. A great many of them read The Post. You wno have rooms to rent can catch their eye by inserting classified ads in The Post. Phone Main 4205.

PARK COMMISSION TO INCREASE FORCE IN EXPANSION PLAN

Body Authorizes Negotiations for Purchase of Piney Branch Land.

LOCATION OF 2 BATHING BEACHES IS APPROVED

Maj. Grant Criticises J. G. Langdon for Resigning As Architect.

The National Capital park commission, soon to expand into the National Capital park and planning commission, will increase its executive force as it finds qualified personnel. This decision was reached at a meeting of the body yesterday.

Considerable time was given to discussion of the organization of the new body, but it was decided to defer this pending appointment of additional members of the new commission.

The commission heard a delegation of Mount Pleasant citizens regarding acquisition by the commission of additional land in Piney Branch valley, which is about to be improved. Negotiations with a view to a purchase of a certain amount of this property were authorized.

Beach Plans Approved.

Location of a bathing beach for white persons in East Potomac park and one for colored in section C of Anacostia park were approved.

Maj. U. S. Grant 3d, secreetary of the commission, said following the meeting, that no successor had been named to replace J. G. Langdon, landscape architect and planner for the commission, who resigned because of alleged limitations to his work.

Mr. Langdon is also reported to have said that Maj. Carey H. Brown, Maj. Grant's assistant, would not give consideration to his plans.

Maj. Grant issued a statement announcing that, "Mr. Langdon was apparently dissatisfied with the remuneration it was possible to give him and the work that had to be asked of him under the limitations of the park commission act, and was too impatient to await the reorganization that will now be possible under the act approved April 30, 1926.

Egotism Charged.

It stated further that "his reflections on Maj. Brown, as they appeared in the papers yesterday, were of course entirely undeserved and sufficiently indicate an egotism and temperament which so far detract from his undoubted gifts as a landscape architect and from the value of his special knowledge of the National Capital's special problems, as to have made his continued usefulness as an employe of the National Capital park commission at least doubtful."

"Because his technical competence and experience were appreciated, his resignation is regreted. The loss is largely compensated by the difficulty we would probably have found in securing good team work from him," Maj. Grant's statement concludes.

History of Moving Pictures Reviewed

Early history and growth of the motion picture industry was the subject of an illustrated lecture by Otto Nelson, of the National Cash Register Co., Dayton, Ohio, speaking last night before the Society of Motion Picture Engineers meeting in the motion picture division of the Department of Agriculture. Other speakers were C. Francis Jenkins and J. F. Leventhal.

The four-day convention opened in the Lee house yesterday morning with a welcome tendered by Lieut. Col. Bell, engineer commissioner. The president's address by Willard B. Cook, of New York, followed. President Coolidge received the engineers at the White House at noon and technical papers were read at the afternoon session.

Isaac, of Nashville, director of the Sunday School and Baptist Young People's Union congress, who is on tour of the country, completing plans for the organization's national meeting next month in Brooklyn.

Dr. J. L. S. Holloman and the Rev. J. A. L. Washington conducted devotionals. Addresses were made by R. T. Bell, Dr. W. C. Green and Dr. Isaac. A chorus of 150 voices, led by W. R. Williams, furnished a musical program, together with inspirational music, led by John W. Smith, master of ceremonies. The committee which arranged for the meeting consisted of Dr. J. J. Porter, J. A. Taylor, S. H. Ross and Walter R. Williams.

Mrs. Woodcock was taken on a warrant, sworn out by Mrs. Mary V. Rowe, an official of the Carbery Parent-Teacher association, and accused of having appropriated for her own use $275, which she is said to have collected for the organization's milk fund for poor children.

Body Found in Woods To Rest in Arlington

The body of the man discovered Saturday in the woods near Cabin John, Md., with a bullet through his temple, will be buried in Arlington cemetery today by Rockville authorities. The police have not yet established the man's identity, but, believing that he is a war veteran, will bury him in Arlington. A suicide note found in the man's clothing was signed "E. Winchell."

R. G. DONALDSON SAYS BANK BUSINESS SOUND

Stanfield Declares Europe More Liberal With Federal Workers Than U. S.

Fritzi Scheff, prima donna of light and comic opera, appearing at the Rialto theater this week; R. Golden Donaldson, Washington banker, and Senator Robert F. Stanfield, of Oregon, were headliners on The Washington Post's radio program broacast from station WCAP last night.

Mr. Donaldson talked on the banking business, Senator Stanfield on liberalized retirement for Federal employes, and Fritzi Scheff sang "Kiss Me Again," a song she made famous. Her encore was Irving Berlin's "Always." Her accompaniment was Miss Clarice Partridge.

"The banking fraternity at this time is rejoicing that banking business generally is in a sounder condition than it has been for many years," said Mr. Donaldson, president of the Commercial National Bank. "This is due in no small measure to the fact, I believe, we have the best banking system in the world today."

Europe More Generous.

Senator Stanfield showed where European countries are far more generous with their employes than the American government, and said that in order that old and disabled employes may be given an annuity in keeping with their necessities, Congress is now considering the Lehlbach-Stanfield bill.

In Portugal the annuity is 50 per cent of the annual salary, and retirement age is voluntary at 60. In the Netherlands it is two-thirds of the annual salary not exceeding 3,000 florins, or $1,200. France grants an annuity, in the active branch of the service, equal to one-half of the average annual salary for the last six years of service, plus one-fiftieth of the salary for each additional year of service beyond 25 years.

Germany retires its employes at 65 years of age, and their annuity is one-sixtieth of the annual salary up to and including the thirtieth year, and in addition one one hundred and twentieth of the annual salary for each year thereafter. Employes make no contribution for their annuity, but have another provision whereby they contribute 3 per cent for widows and orphans.

In the case of Great Britain, where the entire cost of the annuity is paid by the government, it permits voluntary retirement of all employes at 60 years of age, and makes it compulsory that they be retired at 65, but in cases where employes are still efficient, capable and desirous of continuing service, they may be retained until 70 years of age.

Clifford Brooke, director of the National Theater Players, entertained with song and story and Miss Elisabeth E. Poe, of The Post staff, told the children an interesting story of the Washington monument.

Miss Dorothy Tierney, of the National Theater Players, sang, being accompanied by Margaret Bowie Grant. Earl Carbauh and his singers were heard, accompanied by Lillian Carbauh. Their program included: "The Bells of St. Mary's," Adams; "Just a Wearying for You," Bond; and solos, "A Brown Bird Singing," by W. P. Shanahan, member of the quartet; and "Calling for You," by Earl Carbauh.

Baseball results also were announced.

$10,000 Damages Sought.

George W. Young filed suit yesterday in circuit court against Raymond K. Espey to recover $10,000 damages for alleged personal injuries. Through Attorneys Clephane, Latimer & Hall, the plaintiff says that he was struck by the defendant's automobile on Georgia avenue northwest, on December 27 last.

Find Man's Head Near Spot Where Body Lay

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., May 3.—Sheriff Duffey announced today that the missing head of Charles W. Morse, who disappeared after a joy ride fifteen months ago from his home near Weverton, and whose headless body was found March 22 last on an island in the Potomac river near Harpers Ferry, has been found by Timothy Greenwalt, who cultivates a truck patch on the island. The head and several ribs were found near the spot where the torso was found.

Harry A. Cummings, Harpers Ferry taxicag driver, the last man who is said to have seen Morse alive, is held under $10,000 bail, jointly charged with James Chewning, who has never been located by the officers, with being responsible for Morse's death.

CONSCRIPTS BATTLE FOREST FIRES IN VAIN

North Carolina Flames Rage Over Vast Area—Game Preserve Destroyed.

Asheville, N. C., May 3 (By A. P.).—A series of serious forest fires continued unabated tonight while more than 1,000 men and boys, many of them conscripted, fought to save thousands of acres of valuable timber in western North Carolina. The fight, which has been going on for several days, seemed today to have made no progress against the flames.

Appeals for help have been sent to all surrounding towns and neighborhoods. When calls for volunteers yesterday failed to produce a sufficient number of men, McDowell county authorities authorized Deputy Sheriff George Fleming and fire wardens to press into service as many men as were needed. By nightfall they had conscripted more than 600.

The Catawba game preserve, one of the show places in western North Carolina, was said to be a tangled mass of blackening embers. A fire on the famous Biltmore estate, near here, raged unchecked, and great damage to timber was done near Waynesville in Haywood county.

Little relief is promised by the weather bureau in the form of rain, which would tend to check the flames.

Gums like Coral

Teeth with that dazzling whiteness you seek

This NEW way will bring them quickly. It removes the film that invites "off-color" teeth and unhealthy gums. See what difference in only a few days. Make this unique dental test.

HERE is a simple dental test. A test that will work a great change in the color of your teeth, in the color and firmness of your gums.

You may not realize it, but yet be handicapping yourself immeasurably with a smile that lacks the attraction of glistening white teeth and healthy gums.

For your own sake, send the coupon. It means much to you.

That stubborn and dangerous film—you must remove it

Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles, directly or indirectly, to a germ-laden film that forms on teeth.

You can't see it, but run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it . . . a slippery, viscous coating.

That film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off color" and dingy.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack and your teeth open to decay. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea.

You can't have pretty teeth unless you combat it. Highest authorities all tell you this.

Brushing won't end it

Ordinary dentifrices and cleansing won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleansing method is failing in its duty.

It removes that film. And Firms the Gums

It accomplishes two important things at once: Removes that film, then firms the gums. No harsh grit, judged dangerous to enamel.

A few days' use will prove its power. Why cling to old methods when world's authorities urge a better way?

Send the coupon. Clip it now before you forget.

A MODERN MARRIAGE

An Absorbing Novel

By IDAH McGLONE GIBSON

SYNOPSIS.

Kathlyn Leonard opened the door on a stormy night to find standing there Elton Foss. An altercation followed. She demanded he leave. He attempted to force an entrance. A revolver cracked, and he fell dead. Kathlyn, horrified, closed the door. Then a man slipped from the shadows. It was Rodney Evans. An officer found him beside the body. He called the police station. More police came rushing to the scene. They decide Kathlyn heed not come, but Rodney must go to the station. As he shook her hand in good-by, he passed an automatic to her. It was her own, and had not been fired. The hours passed. Kathlyn was alone in her anguish. She then realized how mistaken had been her ideas that a woman could live her life as she pleased, defying conventions. Just then Rodney returned. Kathlyn explained how Foss came to be at her home and his advances.

Rodney left after reassuring her and went straight to his attorney, Dick Starmount. He told his lawyer the story of Elton Foss' death and said he had killed Foss.

CHAPTER VI.

A Surprising Revelation.

"ROD, you're mad!" Richard Starmount said wildly.

"No, I'm perfectly sane."

"But you just told me that you did not know whether you killed him or not."

"I know it. This is what I want you to get into your mind very clearly. Kathlyn is liable to be accused of Foss' murder, and I shall confess that I shot him."

"But you didn't, Rod; you didn't do it."

"No, I didn't do it."

"And you think Kathlyn did?"

"Some one did. The man is dead. But make no mistake—he deserved to die. I should have killed him if some one else had not. What you have to do, Dick, is to get her free at any cost."

"Tell me the rest of it."

"In a moment Kathlyn opened the door again," continued Rodney. "I know now she was looking for her revolver, which I had picked up and dropped into my pocket a few seconds before when I was examining Foss to see if he was dead.

"I told her to go back and go to bed. Instead, she came down the steps, imploring me to get away as soon as possible.

"To reassure her, I said: 'I have the gun,' and then she asked if I had both of them."

"What did she mean by that?"

"She must have known that Foss was armed."

"Was he?"

"Yes. I bent over him again and picked up a gun and put it in his pocket, from which it might have fallen. Just as I was doing this a policeman came up."

"What did you tell him?"

"That I was coming to call upon Miss Leonard and found the body when Miss Leonard opened the door and a shaft of light from her studio fell upon it.

"Kathlyn acknowledged that she knew Foss. That he had been calling upon her earlier in the evening.

"We told them nothing else. At the station house where I went with them I reiterated the story to Skelton, the detective."

"Did they search you?"

"No, but I was afraid they would and left the revolver that I had placed in my pocket with Kathlyn. The policeman found the other gun in Foss' pocket, and, remarking that it was wet, carefully put it in his handkerchief. Later at the station it was dropped and picked up by another man. I went from the station directly to Kathlyn's house. I knew she would be terribly frightened. I didn't want to leave the gun in her house. Here it is."

"But this gun is fully loaded," Starmount said a moment after he had taken it from Rodney's outstretched hand.

"My God, then I put Kathlyn's gun in Foss' pocket. What if the rain has not obliterated all the finger prints?"

"That is something that we will worry about when we get to it. What time is it now, Rod?"

"About 7, I think."

"Well, we'll have breakfast and I'll phone and inquire about the inquest."

As the two men went into the dining room, a paper was thrust into Starmount's hand.

Across the front page was emblazoned in red: "ELTON FOSS MURDERED." Below, the lawyer read: "Well Known Broker Killed in Greenwich Village."

"The battle is on," he said, turning to Evans. "I'll leave you and telephone to Central station. You read the story and, whatever you do, do not look concerned. Before we have finished our breakfast we will probably have every police reporter in the city here. I'll be back before that and help you out."

Rodney Evans did not immediately read the paper. Instead, he laid it beside his plate, while he deliberately ordered breakfast for two.

By the time the fruit had arrived, Dick Starmount returned and seated himself.

"The inquest is called at 10 o'clock this morning. I had the good luck to find Skelton and, by a little judicious questioning, found that you will probably be indicted."

"Thank God!" fervently dropped from Rod's lips.

"I'm not so sure, Rod," said Dick earnestly. "In any case Kathlyn will be called upon to testify."

"She can refuse to testify, Dick."

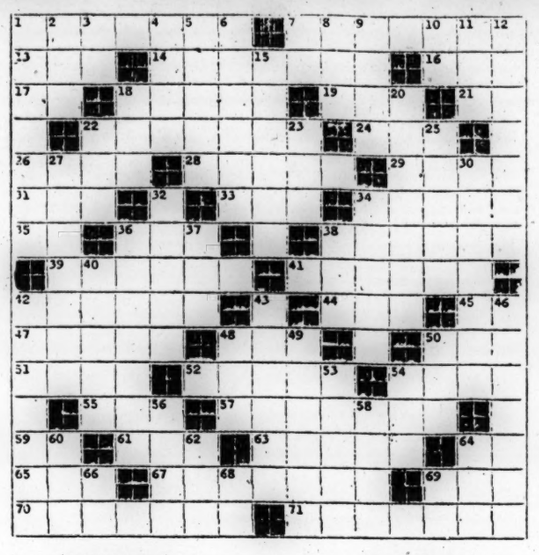

"On what grounds? You would not want her to say that she might incriminate herself, would you?"

"Certainly not. She has a perfectly good excuse for not testifying." Rodney paused a moment as though choosing his words. Then he said:

"Dick, the girl known as Kathlyn Leonard has been my wife for over a year."

WIVES OF TOMORROW

By FRANCES M'DONALD

The Navy Approves.

DEAR MISS McDONALD: Do mind a word from a U. S. naval hospital? I have read your column daily but was somewhat surprised to read the letter signed "A Non-Petting Girl." I wish to congratulate her on her stand. It must be great to meet a girl with whom you con converse on subjects other than jazz parties.

It isn't always the looks that take a girl over the top. Sometimes you see one who you think good looking and pleasant, but after the first conversation everything seems vice versa.

I do not object entirely to petting, but don't think it proper on the first meeting and continually thereafter. We do have to devote some of our time to serious thinking if we wish to be successful in life. It's the things petting will lead to if we indulge in it too deeply.

Not long ago I had a peculiar experience. I was keeping company with a girl, seeing her regularly a couple of times a week. One night she went for a car ride with another man and came home married. Not 24 hours later she was pleading for help. Although I had the greatest respect for her and would have gladly helped, it was too late. Now had she not indulged too deeply in petting and spent a few moments in serious thinking she may have avoided a lot of her present trouble.

In your column girls are often heartbroken because the man whom they thought would marry them has left them. I wonder if they stopped to ask themselves if they couldn't be glad that the break came before it was too late.

I hope that I won't be classed as an old crab, for I realize that I have a lot to learn. I am only in my early twenties. SINGLE.

Happily Ever After.

My dear Miss McDonald: A few words from "one who did not pet" and did not "stay at home."

I have read your column for some time with a great deal of interest and naturally have had my own ideas on the subjects discussed, usually agreeing with your reply.

To begin with I am a very happy wife and mother with the finest man in the world for a husband (a dreamer, incidentally) and the two sweetest babies. I am 28 years old. As a girl, I never petted nor did I lack for friends of the opposite sex.

I was always ready to go horseback riding or could play a good game on the tennis court, was a good dancer and enjoyed everything a discussion in which some opinion has been expressed that is hurtful in the line of clean sports—in short, I enjoyed life and had a great deal of confidence in humanity.

I am not pretty, only "one in a crowd." The boys always came to me with their confidences, troubles and also their joys with a certainty of finding sympathy, any advice I could give, and praise for their achievements.

They enjoyed my friendship and knew I was always ready to join them in their games, as I am right proficient in most sports, the winning on my part was not due to their charitableness but my own efforts.

I valued my friendships very highly and I have every reason to believe that mine was valued also.

Of course there were many who were satisfied with "friendship," but some professed their love and proposed marriage, but I refused their proposals as kindly as possible. I had always dreamed of the "ideal" and when he came there was no doubt in my mind.

I never kissed him until we were engaged to be married. I have never ceased to be glad that I did not cheapen my caresses by lavishing them on any man with the status of a friend or less.

After six years of married life (not all sunshine due to illnesses and the little worries of every day life) let one add I have not suffered disillusionment or disappointment, but am still as radiantly happy and in love as on my wedding day and my life is rich in joy in my home life with my family. But I have never lost interest in my fellow beings and their problems and everything that goes to make up "life."

My husband and I still face life. With a dream in our eyes and hearts which we attribute to the fact that we kept our high ideals.

So my advice to girls is be generous with your sympathy, be honest and upright, look for the best in every one and you will usually find it, strive to be a "pal," but preserve your caresses. You will be glad some day.

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Washington, D. C., for week ending Saturday, May 1, 1926, on shipments sold out, ranged from 12.50 cents to 18.00 cents per pound and averaged 16.11 cents per pound.—Adv.

Nancy Carey—

Cooking Contest Winners

Our second contest, one for pie and cake recipes only, has ended and it gives me great pleasure to announce that Mrs. R. R. Wayland, of Washington Grove, Md., has with her recipe for Old Virginia Caramel Pie been awarded the first prize of $5, and that Mrs. G. L. Shorey, of 4809 Iowa avenue northwest, has with her recipe for "Blitz Kuchen" been awarded the second prize of $2.

May I congratulate you both upon your success and thank you for your delicious recipes.

The recipes entered in this contest were judged from two standpoints, that of being unusual—and good. An astounding number were entered, and they were almost without exception, unusual, delicious and attractive. Probably three times as many recipes were tested in this contest as in the last, and the Housekeeper found great difficulty in coming to a decision. I am eager to share with you many of the splendid recipes that, as two prizes only were offered, were not prize winners, but are, nevertheless, well worth trying.

Many suggestions have come to the department in response to my request that the readers assist me in answering the query of a friend of the column regarding future contests, and I think we shall undoubtedly have another contest next month. If any one wishes for a contest of any particular type recipe I shall be glad to have them write me, for the next one will depend upon the suggestions of the readers. One reader has suggested a contest along the line of marmalades, jellies, preserves, &c., another that the next be of meat dishes only. If you have a preference, will you let me hear from you?

The date when I may tell you of my surprise draws near, and this time there is to be no disappointment I am happy to say. The many details have been attended to, and on May 10 you will discover in your morning paper just what it has all been about. The time has seemed endless to me, so eager am I to tell you, and so difficult do I find the keeping of secrets.

Having talked of prizes and contests and secrets, the every day matter of a menu seems far away and a little hard to get down to, however, regardless of all these rather foreign things that creep into our column, eat we must, so to work!

Lamb, Mrs. Godet, is high, and if you intend supplyink even more guests than those of which you wrote, as you intimated you might, I should like to bodly suggest that you set your heart on other than lamb chops. I can not hope to plan you an economical luncheon under those extenuating circumstances. Indeed we are always glad to answer a reader through the column when they wish us to do so—you need have felt no hesitancy. As there remains time let me hear from you again with a second choice—if any.

Let us today, after all these delicious prize recipes, descend to hash—from the remnants of our Sunday roast of beef. This recipe for hash is the one I had in mind when planning the meat course for Sunday, and I think you will find it worthy the delicious dessert that is to follow it in our plan for the day.

THE PRIZE RECIPES.

Mrs. R. R. Wayland.
Old Virginia Caramel Pie.
First Prize.

Line two medium-sized pie tins with a good crust and fill with the following filling.

6 eggs.
1 pint milk.
1 glass of currant jelly or preserves.
2 tablespoonfuls flour.
1 teaspoonful vanilla.

Cream the butter and sugar and add the flour, mixing well. Then add the well-beaten egg yolks, preserves, milk and vanilla. Last of all fold in the well beaten egg whites and bake in a moderate oven until a nice brown all over, and until they are firm. If the oven is too hot they will burn quickly. These are delicious when an especially rich dessert is desired.

Mrs. G. L. Shorey.
"Blitz Kuchen."
Second Prize.

2 eggs.
1 cup sugar (granulated).
Butter size of an egg.
3 teaspoonfuls baking powder (level).
2 cups flour.

Mix the ingredients in the order given, sifting the baking powder with the flour. Sprinkle the top with cinnamon and sugar and cocoanut (or nuts in the place of cocoanut) and bake in a sheet pan in a moderate oven.

Conduct and Common Sense

MORE ABOUT TACT.

OF COURSE, this quality, in its social aspect, can be terribly misunderstood. If it is superficial and insincere, it is worse than useless. There are times when would-be tactful people make an awkwardly chosen subject doubly awkward by the ostentatiousness with which they steer away from it. A safe motto to remember is, "Prevention is better than cure." If a mistake can be hindered, hinder it. If it has been made and can not easily be ignored, then face the crisis openly and as simply as possible. For instance, if it is too late to stop to the feelings of a guest, do not fix the person at fault with a meaning eye and say sweetly, "Yes, no doubt there is something in that point of view, but do come and look at my begonias," thus drawing him away to explain matters to him in a corner. These are tactics obvious to all, though they affect to be subtle, and they do no good.

How much better to say boldly, "Yes, I agree with you, but I am sure Mr. Baldwin won't, for you see he is a pacifist." (For "Pacifist," substitute any belief that may have been attacked.) To clear the air in this way is often the best method of putting people sincerely at their ease, and real interchange of thought may follow if the guests are broadminded enough to be interested in one another's opinions and tolerant in expressing each his own. Dogmatic laying down of the law and contentious argument are always to be avoided.

THE MENACE OF WORMS.

ANOTHER reason for a spring clean-up is found in the worm menace. The worm alluded to is the common round worm which infests humans and hogs, and possibly also dogs, cats and some others among man's intimate friends. There was some controversy as to whether the round worm of the pig is the same as the human round worm, but all are agreed that if it is not the same, it is a very close kinsman.

Miss E. B. Cram thinks the round worm a great public health problem, possibly more of a problem than the hookworm, since it is so much more widely spread. Furthermore, it can be prevented. And, finally, the keynote of prevention is cleanliness.

One proof of the relation to cleanliness is the great prevalence of round worm infestation in people in the devastated areas in France since the world war and among soldiers in the war. War breaks down standards of cleanliness among a people. The commanding officers do the best they can to provide sanitary conveniences and to force the soldiers to use them. In spite, however, of all they can do, a soldier's habits tend to return to the primitive in spots. This is many times as true of the civilian population in the areas over which contending armies are passing.

She commends to hog raisers what is known as the McLean county plan to prevent young pigs from being killed or runted by worms. She commends the principle of that plan to the mothers of human young.

The McLean county plan starts with putting the sow, before she farrows, into a well-cleaned brood house located in a well-cleaned lot. When the pigs are ten days old the sow and pigs are transferred from this lot to a hog pasture, where the soil is sterilized by growing rape or other hog pasturage. The location of the hog pastures is changed every few years. The young pigs are not allowed among the older hogs until they are four months old and more able to resist worms.

Miss Cram offers several reasons for her opinion that worms are harmful. They wander into the appendix, gall bladder and other locations where they cause trouble. They may stop up the intestines. They may cause anemia. They may cause some runting. The larvae bore their way through the tissues. In this way they often reach the lungs, causing pneumonia, bronchitis, colds and such disorders.

There are any number of satisfactory worm medicines. The worm candy of the drug store contains wormseed, as that is about the best of the worm medicines for this worm.

But cleanliness of habits is the fundamental in fighting worms.

Chorus Girls Become Summer Lifeguards

New York, May 3 (By A. P.).—New York's chorus girls have discovered a new manner of spanning the theatrically non-productive summer months.

A report from one Broadway production said that six members of the chorus already have taken the Red Cross life saving test in order to qualify as life guards or instructors at the beaches.

Beauty and You

The Right Way to Sit Down.

THIS is a subject to which most of us give little thought. We spend a good deal of time sitting down—too much, usually—and, we do it carelessly.

There is an old idea that it is a good rule, particularly for a woman, to sit rather than to stand. Particularly for a woman; this is a poor idea, it seems to me. It tends to make large, spreading hips. The body "sags together" in the middle, and the internal organs become cramped, especially if the sitting posture is slouching. A nervous person often has the bad habit of sliding forward and resting the weight on the sharp edge of the chair. It is a common fault of the business woman, who leans too heavily on her desk. Such a position is hard on the nerves and encourages sciatic pains in the legs. Another person will sit forward on the edge of the spine and rest the upper part of the back against the chair—also a bad habit, for it contracts the lungs and makes the shoulders round.

In sitting properly, the lower part of the back must be settled well against the chair back for support. The seat of the chair should be fairly wide, and the feet should just reach the floor comfortably. Hold the chest up, and the chin in, and take a good deep breath occasionally. Best of all, don't sit too long. And make it a habit not to sit, but to stand erect, for at least fifteen minutes after eating a meal.

Tomorrow the Beauty Editor will tell what to do for spring fever.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

LIFE.

If life held nothing more
Than laughter and mirth and love,
A welcome kiss at the door
And the skies, with the stars above,
An occasional hour of peace,
When the striving and jarring cease,
We should still press on through the years
In spite of their pain and their tears.

The voice of a little child,
The touch of a summer breeze,
The roar of a tempest wild,
The fleeting charm of a dream,
A garden, a running stream,
In spite of the cares which pile,
It would still be a thing worth while.

But shining above it all,
The beauty of earth and sky,
The laughter of children small,
The friends who are standing by,
Is the light of a love divine,
That strange and mysterious sign,
The death and the passing from earth
Is surely another birth.

Life holds for us, one and all,
A promise we strangely feel,
It throbs in the songbird's call,
It's a thing which the trees reveal;
We must pay for these hours of breath
With the absence that's known as death,
But shall rise in a noble birth
Enriched by our stay on earth.

MODISH MITZI

Mitzi Is Really Being Useful

By Jay V. Jay

Mitzi's idea was really brilliant! She does think that every one should be kind and helpful so she is giving away most of her clothes—it's all she has to give, she says plaintively. She couldn't quite bring herself to part with this new Cossack coat, though, nor the hat to match.

On her way home Mitzi stops to admire the new shoes and handbags which all seem to be made of at least two kinds of leather. One kind isn't enough by half. Snakes and lizard skins seem to be most popular—she does hope that they are really reptile skins and not imitations.

She has always wanted to travel in the tropics and if this fashion keeps up for another year or two traveling there will be so much pleasanter. The mongorams shown here are of silver or of rhinestones and are made to order so that one's bag be appropriately marked.

Blue calfskin trimmed with gilt, or black and green leather combined—surely she can buy one of these? After all, she has given away practically everything she has and no one could expect her to do without really necessary things. Mitzi wonders, but not seriously, what Dad will say.

Britons Are Buying Copper In Face of Labor Upheaval

By S. S. FONTAINE.

New York, May 3.—Despite Great Britain's industrial upheaval, her manufacturers were buyers of copper in this market today. Substantial orders were placed recently by the British Insulated Works and today copper producers received instructions by cable to continue shipments as booked. The understanding in the copper trade is that in case of a protracted strike, French and German manufacturers will fill the orders on the books of the British fabricators. As far as the foreign situation is concerned, there is no fear of a falling off in consumption therefore.

* * * *

The prosperity of the copper industry in this country, predicted by leaders last year, is in full swing, if figures mean anything. When Kennecott Copper Corporation last month reported earnings of more than $23,000,000 for 1925, the financial district awakened to what had been going on in the copper world. Yet it was to receive even more cheerful news from Anaconda Copper Mining Co. and its South American property, Chile Copper Co. Anaconda reported earnings in 1925 more than 150 per cent larger than for 1924, $5.84 per share, compared with $2.23, to be exact, while Chile shows $2.71 per share, compared with $2.58 per share in 1924. Mother Lode Coalition operating income was $2,142,460, so that the prosperity of the copper companies extended from Alaska to the southernmost tip of South America.

* * * *

Just why these figures should have been received with cheerful amazement is one of the psychological curiosities of Wall street, because the experts of the industry had last year predicted just what has come to pass. Of these, most outspoken was James J. Godfrey, who declared repeatedly that, despite the complications in Europe, world demand for copper was so tremendous as to assure large and profitable operations by copper companies. He is today even more optimistic for the future.

* * * *

"The pessimists point to increased production as being unfavorable. I suppose that if all the mines in the world were shut down they would consider conditions fine," Mr. Godfrey said today. "Production has increased to meet the constantly increasing demand for metal, and that demand is not satisfied. Not only is current production being absorbed, but accumulated stocks are being drawn upon. Supplies are dwindling.

"There was world over-production of lead; zinc output about balanced demand, and only copper was not produced in quantities to meet actual requirements. While the price remains abnormally low in contrast to that of other metals, this has been due largely to the activities of speculative dealers who were able to increase the supply last year. This situation is correcting itself.

"The changed attitude of foreign mining in this respect is shown by the action of the Katanga management, which has joined with other large mining interests to curtail speculative supplies. Completion of the organization of the copper export association will make epochal changes in the whole copper metal situation of the world. Last fall I pointed out the necessity for some organization of this character in order that European countries might supply their needs for metal.

* * * *

"The subject is a big one either from the point of copper production and consumption or from that in the economic recovery of Europe. We have just concluded the last of the major debt funding problems arising from the world war—that of France, Germany, Austria, Italy, all have gone through the stress of readjustment and now are just beginning to feel the benefits which come from a definite and final settlement of their indebtedness. France finally has taken the plunge.

* * * *

"Americans generally have little conception of the far-flung plans of nearly every European country for electrical development. By the development of electrical energy and its application in industry they hope to be able to meet the competition of this country. They see in it their economic salvation. These plans have been delayed by lack of credit, which in turn has been due to the uncertainties of the national debts and to the political capital which has been made of them with resultant instability of the political parties in power.

"With the debt problems of all the major countries settled, and with the copper export association functioning, not only in meeting the demand for copper metal but in providing the necessary credits, the way is cleared, in my opinion, for the most prosperous era the copper industry has had."

* * * *

The showing in the first quarter of 1926 by the Gulf States Steel Co. was hardly up to expectations. The returns were equivalent to $1.77 a share on the 125,000 outstanding common stock. However, it was more than enough to take care of the $1.25 quarterly common dividend. The unusually large production of steel early this year, as well as the large shipments and heavy consumption, led to the belief that the company would show up better than it did. The earnings for the period just closed were about equal to those in the final quarter of last year, but were considerably below those for the first three months of 1925.

The keen competition from foreign producers was very likely the principal factor in keeping the company's earnings down. The backward spring season was also a contributor, but the management expects that the second quarter will be quite an improvement over its predecessor. The company is in an excellent financial condition, has no funded debt and only 20,000 shares of 7 per cent preferred ahead of the junior issue.

* * * *

The number of stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. continues to gain. On April 1 last they totaled 141,097, an increase of 519 over March 1 last. It compares with an increase of 444 in February and with a decrease of 1,591 last January. In the first quarter a decrease of 628 was shown. Last year the company earned over $6 a share, or about 12 per cent on its current market price, and returns thus far in 1926 are ahead of a year ago, notwithstanding that the company has expended larger sums for maintenance, &c. Average holdings on April 1 were 70.77 shares and compare with 71.03 on March 1 and with 73.22 on April 1 last year.

Perhaps You, Too, Have Overlooked These Advantages

A SHORT time ago a man whose holdings total about $50,000 told one of our representatives that he had never bought a real estate bond. "I confine my purchases," he said, "to railroad, public utility and industrial bonds."

Now, however, this man owns a goodly amount of First Mortgage Bonds. Our representative showed him how, by converting approximately one-third of his holdings into Smith Bonds, he would have greater diversity, safety and stability, and an additional income of about $250 a year.

You, too, should add Smith Bonds to your list of investment securities. Our current offerings of First Mortgage Bonds will pay you 6¾% or 7%—approximately 40% more than the current average return on other classes of high-grade investment securities—and each issue of Smith Bonds is protected by safeguards that have resulted in our record of no loss to any investor in 53 years.

RALLY SETS IN AFTER SHARP BREAK IN STOCKS

Steel and General Motors Best Resist Effects of British Labor Crisis.

CALL FUNDS 3½ PER CENT

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, May 3.—Stock prices broke sharply one to ten points or so, in active dealings on the New York Stock Exchange today as a consequence of injection of the British labor crisis into the financial situation here. There was some late recovery in some of the shares hardest hit by the decline, but scores of issues showed net losses of 2 to 7 points at the close of the session, the total of transactions in which approximated 1,600,000 shares.

Disappointment at the failure of all efforts to avert a general strike at midnight tonight—the greatest industrial disturbance England has faced in many years—was widespread in Wall street.

The shares which bore the brunt of the selling pressure on the stock exchange were the recent leaders on the rise. In brokerage circles it was said the selling movement started from London, but was later supplemented by offerings here, much of which was professional in origin. In the afternoon a little liquidation was done by nervous investors, who wanted to be out of the market until the storm blew over.

General Electric, the heaviest individual loser, sold at one time 11⅜ points under Saturday's final quotation, but came back in the last hour to close but 7 points net lower. Du Pont and Atlantic Coast Line, with losses on the day of 6¼. Case Threshing Machine and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe off 5 points, and Atlantic Refining, Woolworth, United Drug, Mack Truck and Virginia-Carolina Chemical 6 per cent preferred "when issued" with losses of 4 points or more, were others outstandingly weak.

U. S. Steel common, although at one stage it was nearly 3 points down and closed at 1⅞ off, and General Motors, which yielded 2¼, offered better resistance to pressure than most other high-priced issues.

Rails and industrials were affected alike, with most active issues down 2 or 3 points even after the market, in the last hour, rallied from the lowest levels following London advices quoting the British labor leaders as saying a basis for settlement of the strike could be reached if negotiations should be resumed.

No occasion for acute alarm in the security markets here appears in the British labor situation. If the struggle should be prolonged, it might have serious consequences to international trade. However, the probabilities point to brief duration.

A temporary disturbance abroad might easily react favorably on our markets. For one thing, it should have the immediate effect of checking the movement of American funds to London. Moreover, the uneasiness of foreign capital may result in a flow of European funds to this side for investment in sound American securities. It also is conceivable that, should the struggle continue for a while, the British would be compelled to import certain supplies from the United States, such as coal.

On the other hand it was natural that the first impulse of British financial interests should be to sell part of their American securities. That would be done to place themselves in a liquid position, ready for the coming struggle, should it eventuate. Similarly the first step English investors took when it appeared the world war was inevitable was to liquidate securities here.

The economic efforts of a gigantic labor struggle, such as that threatened in England, could be grave unless the movement should be nipped in the bud.

Call money opened and renewed at 3½ per cent. The strain of unusually large May 1 disbursements already is past. Time money was dull and easy.

Belgian francs closed 10 points off, but French francs and sterling recovered a shade from their low levels. At $4.85⅝ for cables, British exchange was at the lowest quotation since January 12. Norwegian kroner gained 10 points, but pesetas yielded 5 points, and both yen and Chinese currencies were lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 3 (By A. P.).—Sudden breaks in the price of wheat today followed an official statement referring to the British labor crisis as nearly an approach to civil war. On some transactions the drop in values amounted to almost 5c a bushel from the day's top levels. Closing quotations were nervous, 1¾c to 3¼c net lower, May (new) 1.61⅝ to 1.61⅝ and July 1.40¼ to 1.40⅜. Corn finished unchanged to ½c down, oats ⅛@¼c to ⅜c off and oats varying from 10c decline to a rise of 40c.

General selling quickly developed in the wheat market here when news was out that the British premier, speaking in the parliament, said the labor leaders were nearer to proclaiming civil war than Great Britain had been for centuries. Before this news became public the wheat market was showing a downward trend, but not of a pronounced character. In fact, at the opening a material advance was witnessed for a short time owing to higher Liverpool quotations that were associated with strike developments. A majority of traders here, however, construed the strike as an incentive to sell, and with bearish private crop estimates current a reaction ensued.

Weakness of the New York stock market after the British premier's statement appeared to have considerable influence on bringing about acute depression of the wheat market near the end of the board of trade session. Smallness of North American export sales today, only 200,000 bushels, was likewise a bearish influence, and so, too, was only 252,000 bushels decrease of the United States visible supply total. Besides, beneficial rains were reported both in Nebraska and in Kansas.

Corn and oats were affected chiefly by the action of wheat. Substantial decreases in the visible supply of corn and of oats as well were something of a counterbalance.

In the provision market realizing sales tended to offset the bullish influence of light stocks of lard.

Virginians Purchase Blue Ridge Club Site

Richmond, Va., May 3 (By A. P.).—Purchase of Swannanca, the country estate of the late Maj. James Dooley, near Afton, in the Blue Ridge mountains, for development as a private country club, was announced here today by Allen J. Saville, head of a syndicate of Richmond business men. The 700-acre estate will be developed immediately and a golf course placed upon it, Mr. Saville said.

Situated directly atop the Blue Ridge above Afton and on the border of the proposed Shenandoah National park, the Dooley estate will make an ideal playground, Mr. Saville said. The white marble home will be used as a club-house, and plans for a hotel are being considered.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, May 3 (By A. P.).—While British labor news had an unsettling effect on sentiment in the cotton market today, it found comparatively little reflection in prices, which fluctuated irregularly within a range of ten or twelve points. After selling up to 18.25 early, July eased off to 18.15, but closed at 18.19 compared with 18.22 at the close last week. The general market closed steady at net declines of two to seven points.

Early cables from Liverpool were weak under liquidation attributed to the strike situation, but the market there rallied before the local opening and first prices here were steady at a decline of 3 points to an advance of one point.

Buying on reports of rains in the South and prospects for lower temperatures, sent the price of May up to 18.70 and October to 17.37 in early trading, or about two to six points net higher. Part of this demand seemed to come from houses with Liverpool connections and there was considerable covering, but fresh buying was probably held in check by the uncertainties of the British outlook. After early buyers had been supplied, prices turned easier.

Several reports reaching here claimed that the showers reported in the South had been beneficial in some places and that temperatures were higher. These advices led to liquidation by recent buyers which was probably accelerated by early afternoon reports that there seemed no chance of averting a general strike in England. May sold off to 18.59 and October to 17.25, net decline of six to nine points, but prices later steadied up again on renewed covering. There also was a renewal of Liverpool buying in the last half hour, accompanied by rather more optimistic labor reports from London. There also may have been some demand for near months on the talk of larger exports.

A local newspaper report published before the opening said the prospects were for an acreage of 97.5 to 100 per cent of last year, but that it was still too early for definite figures.

Exports today 9,379, making 7,105,629 so far this season. Port receipts 18,798. United States port stocks 966,476.

CURB MARKET REVIEW.

New York, May 3 (By the Associated Press).—Professional selling pressure, obviously inspired by the British labor crisis, forced a sharp reaction in today's curb market. All classes of stock were affected, but trading was only moderate in volume, indicating no widespread public liquidation. Extreme declines in the active issues ranged from 1 to 6 points, but these were reduced by the late rally.

Domestic coal stocks declined with the rest of the list, despite the fact that a prolonged strike probably would result in heavy coal shipments to Great Britain. Glen Alden dropped 2½ points to 161 on transactions of only a few hundred shares, and Lehigh Valley Coal certificates yielded fractionally to 40⅛.

Courtauld's Limited, one of the few British stocks listed, fell 2½ points to 30¼, a new low, on one sale. British-American Tobacco certificates yield 1 point.

General Electric (new stocks) broke nearly 3 points to 78¾, the lowest price since it was admitted to trading a short time ago, and then rallied 1 point. Among the other active industrials to fall back 1 point or more were Continental Baking "B," General Baking "A," Gillette Safety Razor and Goodyear Tire.

Oils yielded with the rest of the list despite constructive trade news. Prairie Oil & Gas fell over 1 point, and Standard Oil of Indiana yielded fractionally in the face of favorable dividend developments. Humble dropped over 3 points to 63⅛ and then snapped back to 64⅜. Vacuum closed 2½ points lower at 98, and Standard Oil of California (new), International Petroleum and Carib Syndicate lost 1 point or so.

Some sharp recessions also took place in the public utilities. United Gas Improvement was driven down from 101 to 94½ and then rallied to 96, off 3⅜ net, and American Light & Traction, American Power & Light and Electric Bond & Share sold 2 or more points lower.

HAMILTON AND MELLON LAUDED BY DONALDSON

Commercial National Bank Official Expresses Faith in Fiscal System.

LANSTON MONOTYPE UP

By F. W. PATTERSON.

"I believe we have the best banking system in the world today. We have developed from the organization of the First Bank of the United States, which was planned by Alexander Hamilton, and chartered by Congress in 1791, up to our present state of efficiency, the last important part of which was the creation by Congress of the Federal reserve system," said R. Golden Donaldson, president of the Commercial National Bank, and chairman of the board of the Mount Vernon Savings Bank, in broadcasting a talk last night on "Banking," from WCAP. "Too much can not be said for the beneficial results which the country and the banks, and therefore the people at large have received from the Federal reserve system."

Outlining the growth of banking and pointing to the present total deposits of the national and State banks as approximately $51,000,000,000, Mr. Donaldson guided his listeners through the more important phases of banking, stressing the huge credit system, where comparatively speaking, money or currency is never used.

"It is almost impossible to discuss banking in this country without thinking of our first Secretary of the Treasury, Alexander Hamilton, and our present Secretary, Andrew W. Mellon," the banker declared. "As one looks on the splendid statue of Alexander Hamilton, the possessor of an unexcelled mind, which adorns the south terrace of the Treasury, and reads of the important part he played in the early history of the country, one wonders how he had time to be thinking constantly and writing of the establishment and operation of the fiscal affairs of our new country."

Telling of the many problems of the first Secretary of the Treasury and the opposition of politicians which he overcame to such an extent that history has recorded him as one of the geniuses of the world, Mr. Donaldson referred to the problems of finance which followed the world war and how successfully they have been worked out by the present Secretary of the Treasury, closing his address by saying, "Thus we find our first and last Secretary of the Treasury have managed the financial affairs of the nation with remarkable ability so no man need be anything but optimistic on the future of our country, for whatever problems may confront us in the future, men will be found to solve them."

Capital Traction Strong.

Trading on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday was in better volume than is usually the case at the opening of the week, although the movement was limited to four issues.

Lanston Monotype, opening with a ⅝ gain, sold in 10 share lots at 85⅝, parting with an ⅛ on 4 sales involving 50 shares which were sold at 85½, when a further drop to 85⅜ was recorded on sales of 20 shares. Capital Traction Co. was strong and unchanged at 103½, and Riggs National Bank sold at 453 on a 10 share turnover. Norfolk & Washington Steamboat Co. maintained its previous level of 280 on the sale of 1 share.

The bond division was neglected save for a sale of Capital Traction 5s at 99¾.

Investment Bankers to Meet.

The spring meeting of the board of governors of the Investment Bankers' Association of America will convene in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., from May 11 to May 15, inclusive. As has been the custom in previous years, the former officers and governors will be in attendance in large numbers. Eugene E. Thompson, of Crane, Parris & Co.; John L. Edwards, of John L. Edwards & Co., and a number of other investment bankers will make the journey from here. The more active committees of the association will be in session on Tuesday, May 11, that being the day given over entirely to committee conferences.

The practice of the committees to call meetings simultaneously with the governors' session is one of the great steps forward which the organization has made in recent years. The members of committees are scattered over the entire country and Canada, and the work is carried on at long range without opportunity for discussion. The May meeting furnishes an excellent chance for chairmen to bring their members into conference, and these conferences make possible greater coordination of efforts.

Bankers Are Optimistic.

Reports from Pinehurst, N. C., where members of the executive council of the American Bankers association were gathering yesterday for the annual spring meeting, indicate that there is a degree of optimism in financial circles regarding the business outlook in the country. The consensus, as reported from the convention, seems to be that there will be a satisfactory readjustment of business without depression with money and credit conditions favorable.

Those attending the council meeting from Washington are John B. Larner, president of the Washington Loan & Trust Co.; George O. Walson, president of the Liberty National Bank, and Joshua Evans, jr., executive vice president of the District National Bank.

Riggs Officials Return.

Robert V. Fleming, president, and A. M. Nevius, vice president of the Riggs National Bank, have returned from Atlanta, Ga., where they attended the annual convention of the Association of Reserve City Bankers, in session there last week.

Examination Tonight.

The final examination for Washington chapter, American Institute of Banking, students taking the course in standard banking will be held in the chapter rooms tonight. This course, which has been under the direction of F. J. Donohue, has proven most popular and it is believed that a large class will be graduated.

OGDEN SCORES SECOND VICTORY OVER RED SOX, 6-2

Diegel's Putt Costs Tie In Match

Jones and Armour Win Despite McLeod's Fine Game.

Plenty of Thrills in Play of Stars at Congressional.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

WHEN Leo Diegel putts there ought to be a receptacle planted in the putting green as big as a rain barrel. The regulation cup, which is only 4½ inches in diameter, is entirely too small. He missed a putt for a birdie 3 on the home green of the Congressional course yesterday afternoon that was not over ten inches in length.

If he had holed out, the 36-hole struggle between Bobby Jones and Tommy Armour, paired against Diegel and Fred McLeod, would have ended all square. As it was, Armour ran down his putt for a birdie 3 and gave the victory to his side by the narrow margin of 1 up. A hard-fought battle which seemed destined to end in spectacular fashion, for the two preceding holes, with the match all even, had been halved in birdies, came to a most inglorious climax.

And Diegel, seated on a bench in the locker room with his head bowed in his hands, when he had walked in from the green, looked like a man who had lost every friend in the world.

FROM the first drive in the morning round until the thirty-sixth green was reached the match was full of thrills. When eighteen holes had been played Diegel and McLeod were 1 down, their defeat being in large measure due to two brilliant exploits by Jones, who ran down a 35-foot putt for an eagle 3 on the eighth hole and then chipped his ball into the cup from off th efourteenth green for a birdie 3 when McLeod's ball was lying close to the cup for the birdie which was expected to win the hole.

At the seventeenth tee Diegel and McLeod were 1 up, but Diegel took three putts on the seventeenth green and lost the hole. With the match then all square, Armour drove the home green, 273 yards, and with a birdie 3 won the morning round.

McLeod's shoulders are none too broad, but he carried Diegel on his back all through the afternoon round. The Columbia club professional played like one inspired. His approaches were uncanny in their accuracy and the fact that he had six one-putt greens and only one three-putt green shows that he was hitting the ball toward the cup with a wizard-like stroke. Out in 37 and home in 35, he could almost have played the best ball of the other three members of the foursome.

It is true that Diegel, by running down a putt for a birdie 3 on the

THE Eastern field of track athletes is beginning to show what may be expected of it this year in resisting the challenge from the Pacific coast in the intercollegiate games at Boston on the closing days of May. For the past few years California has come across the continent, first represented by one school and then another, to carry the title back toward the sunset.

Georgetown made its greatest bid for the championship last year. John D. O'Reilly has not quite as well balanced a team this spring as he had a year ago. The absence of such men as Marsters, Holden and Sullivan cannot help but be felt. It hardly seems possible that the Blue and Gray can take first honors this year.

There is, however, such general strength in the East that the intercollegiate may fall to a team with a very small total. When points are divided up among a score or more institutions it does not take many to land in first place. The title has been won many times in the twenties, and a winning record of more than thirty points is rare.

Yale gave indications last week of being one of the most formidable contenders for the crown. In the indoor intercollegiates the blue runners did not do much. They accumulated only six and a fraction points. Since the outdoor track season started, the representatives of Eli have been coming to the front, and on Saturday defeated Pennsylvania and Dartmouth in a triangular meet.

IN Paulsen and Sabin Carr, Yale has two of the most dangerous contenders for first honors. Paulsen turned a quarter in better than 49 when he beat McDonald, of Penn. Asher may worst him. Carr, youthful pole vaulter, is expected to give Less Barnes, of Southern California, a race for first honors in the vault.

The half mile at the intercollegiates will not be a barren event because of the absence of the Hilltop stars. Happy Hogan, of Yale, and Soapy Watters, of Harvard, both were credited with 1.56 3-5 on Saturday and Pinkie Sober and Johnny Campbell, of New York, are ready to do as well, if not better. Southern California, defending champion, is coming with no loss of strength, and the prestige of the defending champion, but holding the title is not going to be an easy task.

There seems to be a good deal more wild swinging in advance of the Dempsey fights than in any of the title holder's bouts, when, as and if held.

If Curley Ogden wins a few more games, there ought to be an epidemic of "iron kelleys" to the head

School Title At Stake Today

Eastern and Central Meet in Scholastic Series Race.

Victory Will Almost Cinch Crown for Guyonites.

THE "croocial" baseball game that the fans look forward to with the same avidity that a drowning man clutches for a straw has arrived in the local interhigh series and a record attendance is expected to be on hand today to see Eastern and Central play in Wilson stadium.

Prior to the start of the season Central was a strong favorite to cop, but Western put a crimp in the Mount Pleasanters' title chances by slipping Kelley's boys an unexpected defeat. Since then Coach Kelley has worked patiently with his boys and now has his machine again in first class shape.

While Central failed to live up to its advance notices, Eastern came through and is perched on top of the heap with two victories and no defeats. The wins were chalked up against the Business and Tech nines.

THE situation today is this: In order to achieve its hopes Central must defeat Eastern and thus gain a tie with the Guyonites for the leadership, for a loss will eliminate Central entirely from further consideration as championship possibilities.

Of course, Eastern is more than hopeful, it is practically confident, of upsetting Central, which is about the only obstacle in its path to its second straight championship.

So there you are. It's a "do or die" situation for Central, and it's a cinch for Eastern if it wins.

The opposing pitchers in today's game probably will be little "Doc" Baker for Central, and John Quinn for Eastern.

Catholic U. Athletes Receive Gold Awards

The third annual reception for the athletes of Catholic university, with the men who represented the institution in major varsity sports during the 1925-26 season being the honored guests, was held last night in the main dining hall. Gold emblematic awards were made to the players who will receive their degrees this June.

The nature of the meeting was more or less informal, and Bishop Shahan made the awards, while Basil Kelly, president of the local alumni association, made a short address. Leonard Ruthledge, president of the Students Athletic council, acted as chairman.

The following is the list of awards made:

Gold footballs—Coach John B. McAuliffe, Capt. Jack Regan, Manager J. Howard, James O. Garin, Clarke Fischer, John J. McGann, John J. White and George E. Adams.

Gold basketballs—Coach Fred Rice, Manager Uricchio, John M. Bailey, James O. Garvin and W. B. McIntyre.

Carlaris Trains Again But Not for Kentucky Derby; Nocturnal Out

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3 (By A. P.).—Removal of Nocturnal, a "dark horse," from the list of probable starters in the Kentucky derby on May 15, and revival of speculation concerning Carlaris, Coffroth handicap winner, were outstanding local developments today as trainers entered upon the last fortnight of preparations for the race.

An infection on the right front foot eliminated Nocturnal, his trainer-owner, Joe Hawkins said today.

Carlaris, "declared out" ten days ago by his conditioner, Fred Kraft, because of an unhealed injury to his right hind hock, has recovered and was put into training today. Kraft has said that he would not point the colt for the derby.

W. T. Anderson, owner of the colt, said no attempt would be made to rush the colt for the Kentucky derby, but he would be trained slowly for his other engagements in the Fairmont and Latonia derbies.

Harris Plans to Farm All

□□□ HADLEY GOING SOUTH □□□

Young Hurlers But Kelley

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

BOSTON, May 3.—Manager Harris announced tonight that he had decided upon a change of policy with respect to his rookie hurling talent and planned to turn loose all but Harry Kelley in the near future. Irving Hadley is expected to be the first to go, Bucky stated. Hadley will leave for Birmingham, where he will be sent on option, soon after the Nats return to the Capital City.

"I don't figure on having to use any of these youngsters," the boy leader of the Nats stated, "and experience has shown me that they learn nothing sitting on the bench with only work during stick drills to keep them busy. I believe that both they and the team will obtain more benefit if they are farmed out where they will be used regularly and thus get a chance to learn and develop under actual competitive conditions.

"All the rookies will have strings attached to them and I can look them over again this fall as well as at Tampa next spring. The three I have hung on to this long, Hadley, Thomas and Morrell, all have shown promise, but are at least a year or so off, and by letting them get this experience right now, they should be good enough to make mighty strong bids for the 1927 team."

"ANOTHER thing," Stanley concluded, "which turning them loose now will do is to give us a couple of vacancies which I can use on other experiements in case Joe Engel digs up any

New York, May 3 (By A. P.).—Jack Wisner turned in another winning performance today, and the Giants slaughtered the Phillies, 11 to 2. G. U. Pitcher Close to Fame

Gillespie Holds V.P.I. Hitless Until Last Inning.

Homer Spoils Record. Gobblers Are Outclassed.

WHILE Georgetown defeated Virginia Polytechnic institute, yesterday afternoon on the Hilltop field by a score of 7 to 3, the outcome of the game was secondary and its glamour was lost by the failure of Frank Gillespie to come through with a no-hit and no-run game.

Gillespie had held the visitors at bay until one was down in the ninth, when he walked Adams, bringing "Buddie" Dear, the star little Gobbler shortstop up. Buddie didn't look dangerous and Gillespie soon had him in the hole with two strikes and one ball. However, he tried to slip the next one by the batter and put it straight down the "alley." Buddie's bat met the ball and they're still looking for it, and blooie went Frank's chance to put his name right under Pete Burch's as the second Georgetown hurler to throw a no-hit game this season.

After Dear had socked his homer O'Reilly called Gillespie from the box and put big Tony Plansky in to finish the hurling. Tony made a two base wild heave of Arrington's pokey roller and the latter stole third and scored on an infield out.

NOT only did Gillespie hurl magnificent ball, but he also did some timely hitting, collecting a pair of doubles, the first of which drove in Murtagh for the initial run of the game in the opening inning. His second two-baser started a four-run rally in the fourth, which put the game on ice.

While Gillespie's hurling was really the outstanding occurrence of the game the visitors came through with several neat fielding features. Buddie Dear made a fine stop back of second and Arrington, the Gobbler right fielder, made three nice catches.

Tigers Beat Chicago, 3-1 as Cobb Stars

Chicago, May 3 (By A. P.).—Detroit bunched hits in the first and second innings today and broke Chicago's winning streak of five in a row, 3 to 1. Manush's circuit drive, Cobb's single and Heilmann's triple put the Tygers in the lead and they were never headed.

The feature play of the game was the doubling of Ty Cobb at the plate, when he attempted to score on a long fly lifted to Mostil in the ninth.

Barrett, White Sox right fielder, wrenched his knee in going after Heilmann's drive in the first and was forced to retire.

Nats Hammer Ruffing in Second

Goslin Gets Home Run in Stands With None on Bases.

Harris Hits Brace of Doubles; Hurler Drives in Pair.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

BOSTON, May 3.—"Roughing Ruffing" was the title of the sketch presented here this afternoon by Washington, in conjunction with the game played with the Red Sox. Fohl's promising young hurler started on the hill for Boston, but retired under fire in the third, after his offerings had been knicked for five runs. The Nats finally took the decision, 6 to 2, but what they did against Ruffing was sufficient to give them the decision, the other run being merely incidental. It was Goose Goslin's homer in the fourth off Joe Kiefer, a nobby clout into the stands in right center with the sacks empty. Harold Wiltse, youthful southpaw, hurled from the seventh and turned in a good effort.

Curly Ogden, who beat the Sox in Washington last week, was given another chance to show his wares, and he made the most of it, having things pretty much his own way from start to finish. After the opening frame, he had a substantial lead under which to work, and got through in great shape, allowing but eight scattered hits and being particularly effective with men on the sacks.

SEVERAL brilliant catches marked the performance, Flagstead making two sensational ones to rob Judge and Bluege of extra-base hits, while for the Nats, Peck and Rice were the heroes.

The Rajah turned in two great stops and pegs of blows to deep short, while Sam brought the small crowd to its feet with a one-hand running catch of Carlyle's hard-hit ball in the seventh.

Both teams scored singletons in the opening session, the Nats coining theirs from one-basers by McNeely and S. Harris and Goslin's useful out, while Flagstead's opening double, S. Harris' error on Carlyle's roller, and Todt's clean line to right gave the Beaneaters one.

Then the Nationals jumped on in front again, ringing the bell three times in round two. A pass and hits by Ruel and Ogden were good for one run, and S. Harris' wallop after McNeely had scratched a safety forced another over, the third run coming while the Sox infield was trying to turn Rice's roller into a double play, which failed to go through as per schedule. A Washington twin murder nullified Gaston's single with one gone in the Sox turn at the tee.

Washington's third was good for another run, the result of a walk and singles by Bluege and Ogden, the shiek driving home his second

SARAZEN HANGS ON TO WIN $25,000 DIXIE PURSE

Gelding Just Wins From Sun Pal

Mr. Pepp Triumphs in Sprint Feature at 6 to 1 Odds.

Broken Vows Captures Sixth Race But Is Disqualified.

Special to The Washington Post.

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., May 3. — Sarazen, 5-year-old son of High Time and Rush Box, did not fail his following in the $25,000 Dixie handicap, repeating his victory of last year by carrying the Fair Stable colors to victory in the good time of 2:00 4-5. Fritz Weiner was riding hard at the end to stall off the fast-closing Sun Pal. Gen. Thatcher was third.

From the time the band struck "Dixie" as the horses paraded to the post the huge Monday crowd was agog. Sarazen was a good behaver today. After a short delay at the barrier, the field was off to a fair start, with Sarazen trailing to the back stretch, where he gained command with ease, holding this advantage to the sixteenth pole, where the lightly weighted Sun Pal, under an energetic ride by Johnny Callahan, was coming on like greased lightning.

Sarazen's supporters rooted with renewed vim and just seemed to help Jockey Weiner and Sarazen over the line, to win by a scant half length. Gen. Thatcher, one of the favorites in the Coffroth handicap, was third, with King Solomon's Seal, coupled with the winner, getting up in time to cash in fourth money.

Joy Smoke bolted as the barrier went up, while Nurmi had no chance after the start and just trailed the field.

SARAZEN was loudly cheered as he returned to the judges' stand, but the players who had forsaken him today on account of his bad post behavior mildly razzed the winner. Sarazen was $5.60 to win the $2 mutuels. Sun Pal was 5 to 1 place, while Gen. Thatcher was 2½ to 1 to show.

Aside from the Dixie, T. W. O'Brien's derby and Preakness candidate, Timmara, attracted the most attention for the day, for the son of Westy Hogan was asked to give weight to older opposition in the Chesapeake handicap, a 6-furlong sprint.

Timmara disappointed, however, for, after being practically left at the post, he wound up fourth in a field of nine.

Mr. Pepp was the winner, making it two in a row for E. F. Whitney, Bill Irvine and Jimmy Butwell, who rode Handclasp to victory in the previous race.

Butwell followed the pace set by Cinema until the stretch, where he urged Mr. Pepp hard. Mr. Pepp responded gamely and was drawing away from Ducks and Drakes II and the tiring Cinema at the finish.

Lady Boss rushed into a long lead in the first quarter, saved ground all the way and just lasted to win. Camilla was probably best, but was poorly ridden. She closed fast on her own courage.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,000. The Pansy, for mares 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily. Went to post at 2:59. Off at 3:01. Winner, Rancocas Stable's ch. f. (3), by Whiskbroom II—Beauteous. Trained by S. C. Hildreth. Time, 1:05 3-5.

Nida, rated back off pace to stretch, came through on inside, took lead and won nicely in hand. Sabine had plenty of speed, forced all the pace and held on well.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000. The Cumberland Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward; claiming. Start good. Won driving. Went to post at 3:29. Off at 3:31. Winner, Mrs. A. Swenke's ch. h. (5), by Everest—Margaret Hastings. Trained by A. Swenke. Time, 1:13.

Everglade, handling his weight well, made Tom Tiger quit and stood off the determined challenge of Sepoy. Latter, poorly ridden, broke well, but was taken back and Sande, instead of coming through on the side, came very wide and finished out in the middle of the track. Traveller, from a slow beginning, closed a big gap. He was running strongest at the end.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

By Bert E. Collyer

Sweet cookie!

This is just a nice way of stating that Owner Parretto is shooting both barrels with THE SPA down Lexington way. All this takes place in the fourth spasm. Just forget all that has gone before. The heavy track will bring about wonderful improvement in this racer.

FAST MAIL could not get out of his own way on Saturday, but the change of track conditions should also work improvement with him in the opener. MAYOR BEHRMAN has a good chance in the second, but is no sure thing. "Little Johnny," who is on the ground, sends along FICKLE as a "sleeper" for this event.

MY DESTINY is nicely placed in the third, but may not start back. ICE looks all over the contender.

his best form in order to cop the grades in the fifth, while DARK PHANTOM is much choice for the sixth.

Snodgrass' Selections

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

PIMLICO, Md., May 3.—The Jennings handicap, $6,000 added, features the card at Pimlico tomorrow, and the Glen Riddle stable's fleet son of Man o' War, DRESS PARADE, unbeaten as a 3-year-old, is selected to beat the large and high class field, which includes among others the powerful SINGLE FOOT. Outside of POMPEY, which qualified so impressively for the classics at Jamaica Saturday, DRESS PARADE appears to be by far the best 3-year-old shown in the East. He has won two races in such commanding style, that considering his breeding, he is bound to go on to better things.

Another signal victory for DRESS PARADE is due. If he wins this race he will be favorite for the Peakness, as it was announced today by William Karrick, trainer, that POMPEY would go to Kentucky on May 8, and would not attempt to start in the Preakness, as the two races came too near together.

The Baltimore steeplechase opens the card. It is for maiden 4-year-olds and up, hence there is little line on them. SAND ROCK is believed to be better prepared than the others, and has a good chance. GOLD ROCK is another that will have a following. BURTON II should get in the money.

The HEATHEN has a hard race to win the second, but he is believed a shade better than GUMDROP, a sensational winner, and H. P. Whitney's CAPRICORN. These three seem to outclass the others.

GREEN BLAZES stands out in the third race. He may find EYELASH the one to beat. Both are at their best on a heavy track. HARRY CARROLL looks good for third money.

Frank Kelley has a strong hand in the fourth race with his entry OPPERMAN and FEY SUN. The chief opposition will come from the uncertain PRINCE HAMLET.

DREAM OF THE VALLEY is good for another race in Maryland and he will find a field not over his head in the sixth. GRAY GABLES will be the contender and may be the dangerous one. LADY BOUNTIFUL was well supported by many on her victory at Havre de Grace.

A large field will start in the seventh race. The outcome is as doubtful as the steeplechase in the opener. CLEARVIEW seems well placed and is chosen to win.

FIFTH RACE—Mile. Purse, $800. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving. Went to post at 4:09. Off at 4:10. Winner, B. Gentry's ch. g. (5) by Seth—May Sutton. Trained by A. Goldblatt. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:47 4-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:42 1-5.

Pullman, G. P. O. and Postoffice Teams Win Inaugurals.

War Department Wins From Navy Nine in Potomac League.

By "DOC" FARRELL.

LIGHT showers late yesterday afternoon failed to halt the seven week day sandlot leagues from playing inaugural games at the Monument lots. Several government celebrities attended the gatherings, tossing out the first balls. Secretary Wilbur, of the Navy Department, threw out the ball starting operations in the Potomac league. Public Printer Carter, of the government printing office, exhibited perfect control in his throw to Commissioner Lewis, of Interstate Commerce, at the start of the Government league's playing campaign.

With Burke in midseason form, fanning fourteen Navy batters, the War Department team scored a 6-to-3 victory in the opener of the Potomac Park league. Navy led to the sixth with a 3-to-2 score. War rallied in the next inning, scoring four runs to gain the verdict. Crenshaw's hitting featured, he getting a triple and a single.

The Postoffice team won its way into the leadership of the Departmental league, defeating Commerce in a seven-inning contest, 6 to 3. Frederic pitched consistent ball for the Postoffice aggregation. He fanned eleven batters and allowed the Commerce swatsmiths six scattered hits. Ritnour and Roach carried away batting honors for the winners, each securing three hits in four trips at bat.

Public Printer Carter witnessed his government printing office diamont proteges gain a 12-to-3 verdict over the Interstate in the inaugural government league game.

PULLMAN, champs of the Washington Terminal R. R. Y. M. C. A. league for two years, won over the R. R. Y. M. C. A. team, 8 to 0. Lefty Tripp held the R. R. Y. M. C. A. nine hitless and runless in a five-inning contest. He struck out twelve.

Government Printing Office had little trouble in downing the War and Navy team as the starter of the Colored Departmental league in gaining a 7 to 3 verdict. The winners scored enough runs in the first, third and fifth frames to win with ease. Neale pitched good ball for the winners.

West Washington Yankees came out on the long end of a 12 to 1 score over the Union M. E. church nine at the start of the Sunday School circuit. Edinger struck out 12 of the Union's batters.

In all it was a gala day for the sandlotters.

ST. JOHN'S MIDGETS WIN.

St. John's Midgets scored a 6-to-5 victory over the St. Patrick's yesterday. Kelly's pitching featured.

among the major league pitchers. Curley wears one.

THE promise grows that the East and the West will meet in a real and stirring struggle on May 15 in the Kentucky derby. Pompey confirmed the faith of his followers on Saturday by winning the Wood stakes in close to record time, so that Bubbling Over, hope of the West, will have a colt which he must look eye to eye as they come down the stretch at Churchill Downs.

The fortunes of Pompey have been various this spring. There was a time when it was reported that the son of a great dam (Cleopatra) had not rounded out in true 3-year-old form. Supporters of the colt have been loath to believe the reports, as his price of 4 to 1 in the winter book shows.

It is evident that the derby candidate is ready now. He turned the mile and seventy yards in 1:42 and the mile in 1:38 at Jamaica. Competent critics say that if the race had been run at Belmont the mile would have registered at least two seconds faster. If this is true, Bubbling Over will need all of his speed to best the Coe colt.

Definite decision has not yet been reached by Mr. Coe relative to Pompey's status in the Preakness. Billy Carrick, trainer of the colt, says that he is pointing the thoroughbred for the Derby, but that he will have him ready in the Preakness in case his owner wants him to start. It is definitely reported, however, that Mr. Coe has supported his pride in the winter books, which is a rather clear indication that he will be shipped to Louisville without undergoing the risk that a race at Pimlico might entail.

THE confidence of Pompey's backers and the form shown by the Eastern colt has not shifted the enthusiasm that Kentuckians have displayed over the chances of E. R. Bradley to win the Churchill Downs classic again. The Bradley stable hopes, indeed, to win both the Preakness and the Derby. Mr. Bradley has more than one string to his bow this year, and he intends to ship two of his best 3-year-olds to Maryland.

Bubbling Over and Bagenbaggage are the class of his stable. The latter is pointed for the Preakness and will probably be supported by one of the lesser lights. The Lexington turfman hopes to be favored by the same good fortune that enabled Gifford Cochran to win both events last year, when Coventry captured the Preakness and Flying Ebony the Derby.

One would judge from the tone of the Philadelphia papers that the pennant chances of the Athletics are beginning to sell for the "raspberry."

Devitt Tennis Team Trims Friends, 3 to 1

The Devitt tennis team triumphed over the Friends netmen yesterday, winning two singles matches and a doubles to score a 3 to 1 victory at the Wisconsin avenue courts.

Hitz, of Friends, captured the singles match over Baker, of Devitt, 6—4, 11—9.

LIGGETTS-EARLES TIE.

The Liggetts Drug Store nine and the Earle Theater team battled eight innings to a 6-to-6 tie game yesterday afternoon. A return engagement between the two will be played next Sunday, and it is planned to start the game early enough so that a decision may be reached.

PREP SCHOOL NET TEAMS TO PLAY

Much Interest Shown Despite Late Start and Short Play.

THE recently reorganized Prep School Tennis league, which is composed of teams from Devitt, St. Johns, Georgetown Prep and St. Johns college, swings into action with its first match of the season Thursday when the Devitt and St. Johns teams meet on the courts of the Columbia Country club.

Owing to the late start made this season each school will meet the other but once and the championship will be determined by the number of matches won. Each match is to consist of three singles matches and two doubles.

There is a large amount of interest in tennis at all of the schools and a banner season is anticipated, even though it will be a short one. The affairs of the league will be handled by G. C. Callan, who will be assited by Don Williamson, B. S. Magill, J. P. Weber and Hartley Howard, the tennis managers at the respective schools.

The complete schedule follows:

May 6—At Columbia Country club, Devitt Prep vs. St. John's.
May 9—At Garrett Park, St. John's vs. Georgetown Prep.
May 11—At St. Alban's, Devitt Prep vs. St. Alban's.
May 18—At Garrett Park, Devitt Prep vs. Georgetown Prep.
May 20—At Garrett Park, St. Alban's vs. Georgetown Prep.
May 26—At St. Alban's, St. John's vs. St. Alban's.

GROVE STOPS YANKEES, 8 TO 3

Shawkey Pounded and 8-Game Streak of N. Y. Is Halted.

PHILADELPHIA, May 3 (By A. P.).—The Yankees' eight-game winning streak came to an abrupt end today when the Athletics took the series opener, 8 to 3, coming from the rear to knock Bob Shawkey from the mound in the sixth with a four-run barrage.

Lefty Grove, the winning pitcher, was the first man to go the route unaided against the Hugmen this year and came out on top.

second green of the afternoon play, won that hole, but he then vanished out of the picture until the fourteenth hole was reached, when, after McLeod had made the only error in an approach shot of the entire round and had taken 3 to reach the green, Diegel secured a half in 4.

It was McLeod's approaching and putting which enabled the match to be squared on the twelfth hole and the players were still all even when the sixteenth was reached. Then the fireworks began. Diegel, on the green about 30 feet from the cup, ran down his putt for a birdie 2, whereupon Armour, from a distance of 15 feet, did likewise.

THE gallery, which had been following the heart-breaking struggle with increasing enthusiasm, cheered loudly, and when a few moments later McLeod ran down a 10-foot putt on the seventeenth green for a birdie 3, to be instantly followed by Jones' putt for the birdie which halved the hole, everybody was on tip-toe with excitement.

Then came the final chapter, which ought to be framed in black crepe. Diegel was the only player on the green and his ball was hole high, not over twenty feet from the cup. Jones played from the far-off hillside to the green but had a hopeless putt for a three. Armour pitched his ball to within two feet of the cup and then McLeod's ball came to rest about three feet from the pin. Diegel then putted and left himself a putt that was certainly less than twelve inches. Without waiting, he walked up to his ball, hit it with his putter—and missed the putt! McLeod putted and missed by an inch. Then Armour stroked his ball into the cup and won the match, while Diegel went into the clubhouse and wept bitter tears.

McLeod had the best score of the day, 75—72—147, while Jones and Armour tied with 149, Diegel's card totalling 153. Jones played the best round in the morning, but throughout the day was given much assistance by Armour, especially when the latter ran down a long putt for an eagle three on the eighth hole in the afternoon round.

Play will begin tomorrow on the Chevy Chase course in the competition for the French High Commission cup for men, with the final round to be played Saturday. The pairings are as follows:

Floyd P. Waggaman, 12, vs. bye; Robert Stead, jr., 6, vs. bye; Walter G. Peter, 11, vs. Walter G. Brantley, jr., 10; C. G. Treat, 9, vs. Alan Lard, 7; McCook Dunlop, 4, vs. bye; Thomas H. OGDEN BEATS FOHLMEN AGAIN tally. After Ruffing had passed McNeely, filling the sacks, he was sent to the "weeping room" and Kiefer relieved him, forcing Manager Harris to pop foul for the third out. In the lower half, with two in the morgue, Carlyle and Todt cracked out singles, but both were left.

GOSLIN picked out the fourth to knock the agate out of the park, depositing a homer in the stands in the right center for run No. 6 for the Harrismen.

Round five saw the Hubbites get this marker back, it being made from Flagstead's single, Rigney's out, which advanced Ira a base, and Carlyle's second safe drive of the game.

After S. Harris' two-bagger had been wasted in the Nats' sixth, Fohl thought he saw a Boston rally in the offing when, with two dead, Herrera doubled and Gaston walked. Lee sent Rosenthal to hit for Kiefer, but his best was a looper to Rice. This brought Wiltse to the hill.

Stan Harris missed getting a homer by only about a yard in the eighth canto when his drive hit the clock on top of the wall in left. A little bit to either side and it would have meant something. As it was, all it helped was Bucky's stick average, he getting credit for a second double and being left.

Goslin lost Gaston's fly in the gentle breezes opening the ninth for the Sox, and it went as a two-base error, but Ogden then settled down to business and had little trouble disposing of the next three up.

JOE BUSH OPPOSES BOSTON CLUB TODAY

Bullet Joe Bush is due to get the pitching assignment against the Red Sox tomorrow with Stan Coveleskie on the list to fling for the Nats Wednesday.

This will throw Dutch Ruether in the trenches against the Yankees in the single game in New York of Thursday. The southpaw should have won his last effort in the big town, which was a brilliant one, and his mates promise that, if he is only half-way effective, they will get him enough runs to make up for their off day with the stick his last time out.

Weather conditions today were exceptional for the City of Culture at this time of the year. Last season, in the same relative series, one game had to be postponed because of cold, while the others were played under near-winter conditions. It would have been hot here this afternoon but for a breeze, for old Sol was batting better than .300.

BLUEGE'S accident in Washington yesterday, when the Nats came out of their slump and downed the Mackmen, has stiffened him considerably. He badly bruised both knees while chasing a foul, the result of a collision with the stands back of third base. Both knees had to be treated and bound before today's game.

This was not the only doctoring that Trainer Mike Martin had to do, as Manager Harris, Tex Jeanes and Stuffy Stewart all were given treatments. The Nat manager still sports a badly bruised left knee, while the finger which has bothered him for several weeks is still far from right. Jeanes somehow or other, scraped all the skin off the back of his left hand, while Stewart's ankle still has to be tightly bandaged before he can use it at all.

High School Fencers Hold Tourney May 14

A fencing tournament for all boys attending Washington high schools and private schools of high school grade will be held at the Racquet club on May 14 and 15. The tournament is sponsored by Walter E. Blount who is handling entries at his home, 1508 H street northwest.

Mr. Blount is offering gold and silver medals for first and second place, and wants as many boys as possible to compete. The medals are to be known as the Blount medals and will be offered in competition every year.

SHARP BOND RECESSION LED BY FOREIGN ISSUES

Reaction, Caused Largely by British Crisis, Spreads Over Entire List.

HIGH-GRADE RAILS SOLD

New York, May 3 (By the Associated Press).—A sharp downward movement of bond prices, beginning with the foreign issues and gradually spreading over the entire list, today measured the market's uneasiness over the impending general strike in Great Britain. Aside from United Kingdom obligations, the British crisis could not be said to have a direct bearing on bonds, but the potential dangers of the situation undermined the confidence of investors and caused considerable liquidation.

Selling of the United Kingdom 5½s was not particularly heavy, but in the absence of buying support both issues sank a point or so to new low levels for the year. With French and Belgian exchanges falling to record lows, the bonds of these countries also turned weak, some of the French municipal and railroad lines reacting 1 to 2 points. The decline was attributed partly to reports that bankers would exact stiffer terms in granting future loans to their governments and industries.

All classes of domestic bonds were subjected to selling pressure, with the most pronounced heaviness shown in those issues which, by their recent advances, naturally attracted realizing sales. Skelly Oil 6½s, carried to a new high level last week by merger reports, slumped 6 points and the last gain of 1 to 2 points in the local traction issues were wiped out. American Sugar 6s, Ajax Rubber 8s, Anaconda Copper 6s and 7s and other representative industrial issues were heavy.

Sales of high-grade railroad bonds were believed to be for the account of British interests who have always been heavy investors in these securities. The action was explained on the ground that it would result in a more liquid financial position in the event that full resources would be required to combat a prolonged strike. Atchison general 4s, Baltimore & Ohio general 5s, Missouri Pacific first 6s, "Katy" adjustment 5s, Northern Pacific 4s and Norfolk & Western convertible 6s were among the conspicuous heavy spots.

Several small pieces of financing have been arranged for early offering, including $3,500,000 notes for the International Railways of Central America, $2,000,000 five-year 6 per cent debentures for the Motion Picture Capital Corporation at a price of 99 and $1,540,000 Territory of Hawaii 30-year 4½ per cent bonds.

INSURANCE AGENTS DRAFT INDEPENDENT BILL FOR BUSINESS

Say They Are Tired of Delay Attending District Code's Preparation.

TO PRESENT MEASURE DIRECTLY TO CONGRESS

Surety Representatives Oppose Allowing Mutual Firms to Write Bonds.

Representatives of life insurance companies doing business in the District yesterday announced that, tired of the delay that has attended preparation of the proposed new code of insurance laws, they have drafted a bill to regulate their branch of the business and will present it to Congress independently. They reported this to the District commissioners at a final public hearing on the new code in the District building and asked to have their part of the regulations omitted from the code.

The battle between the mutual and old line companies, in the conferences of insurance men in which the code was redrafted, came to a head in the presentation of a chapter governing mutual companies and permitting them to write surety and fidelity business.

H. P. Janisch, of the American Mutual association, demanded that the chapter be included in the code. Thomas M. Baldwin, jr., District superintendent of insurance, agreed with him that the mutual firms should be allowed to compete with other companies writing fidelity and surety bonds.

Surety Officer Objects.

R. R. Gilkey, secretary of the Surety Association of America, objected, saying that the high risk involved in these bonds and the long periods over which they are extended, made the plan proposed by the mutual companies unsafe.

Mr. Janisch charged that the surety companies are trying to prevent competition by the mutual companies.

Now that the conferences and hearings are ended, Corporation Counsel Francis H. Stephens will go over the rewritten proposed code section by section with Superintendent Baldwin and the commissioners will consider the recommendations of the two officials.

Oil Magnate's Son Wins Share in Estate

James McDonald, jr., son of the late James McDonald, sr., Standard Oil magnate, is entitled to one-half of the income from the residue of his father's $5,000,000 estate, according to a ruling yesterday by the District of Columbia Court of Appeals.

The court sustained the trust provisions of the will whereby the body of the estate will not be distributed to James and his two children until the oldest child becomes 30 years of age. The residue amounts to more than $2,000,000. The son sued to have the court declare void that section of the will which he contended tied up the estate during the life of persons already in being and for 21 years thereafter, in violation of the law against perpetuities.

Verdict for Collins Is Upheld by Court

The victory won by Representative Ross A. Collins, of Mississippi, who was sued for $130,000 damages for alleged libel, stands, according to a ruling yesterday by the District Court of Appeals, which sustained an order of the lower court refusing the plea of James E. Arnold, of Union, Miss., the plaintiff, for a new trial. The court expressed the opinion that it could not see how the verdict could have been otherwise.

Mr. Collins, who was opposed at the Democratic primaries by the wife of Mr. Arnold, is alleged to have circulated reports that Mr. Arnold, who was a Baptist missionary to the Indians, had colored blood in his veins. These, and other statements, had their effect, it was alleged, upon the candidacy of Mrs. Arnold. The libel suit followed, and Mr. Collins won the verdict.

Girls Held Ineligible For Training Camps

Citizens' military training camps are designed for boys and not girls, Secretary of War Davis explained yesterday regarding the request of Miss Helen Maloney, of Brooklyn, for training camps for girls. Her request, forwarded to the War Department from the White House, was answered by Maj. Gen. Robert C. Davis, the adjutant general.

"As you probably know," he informed Miss Maloney, "the training camps as conducted at present have for their fundamental purpose the training of students to become reserve officers and noncommissioned officers in the United States army. Under the law, only men are qualified for such positions and Congress has made no provision for training along similar lines for women."

Van Ness Association To Hear Home Talk

Miss Julia D. Connor, of the Better Homes in America association, will speak on "Better Homes," at the meeting of the Van Ness Parent-Teacher association at 8 o'clock tonight in Friendship house, 324 Virginia avenue southeast.

The sixth grade girls of Van Ness school will give a play entitled "Better Housekeeping." Six small girls will appear in the play. Mrs. Andrew Goddard, president of the association, will preside. Mrs. L. P. Leapley, principal of the school, will be in charge of the play.

Sanitary Commission Can Not Be Sued Here

The Washington suburban sanitary commission, which was created by the legislature of Maryland for the purpose of constructing sewer and water mains in nearby towns, can not be sued in the District even though it maintains an office here, according to a ruling yesterday by the court of appeals.

This court set aside an order of Justice Hoehling in circuit court in which he overruled three special pleas to the jurisdiction of the court interposed by the commission in a suit for $25,000 damages filed against it by Margaret G. Magruder for injuries she said she received at Woodside, Md., on December 13 last by slipping near an excavation.

WOMAN IS SENTENCED TO 15 YEARS IN PRISON

Accused of Assault With Intent to Kill Proprietress of Store.

ALLEGED ROBBERS JAILED

Mabel Washington, colored, who has a long record, police say, was sentenced to serve fifteen years in prison yesterday by Justice Stafford in criminal court on a charge of assault with intent to kill. The woman was discovered by Deputy Marshal George C. Twohy on March 8 sitting on the prostrate figure of Mrs. Sarah Cohen, who had been beaten, in the rear of the Cohen store at 1633 Twelfth street northwest, it is charged. Mrs. Cohen carried a large sum of money.

John Triplett and Henry L. Cox, both colored, were sentenced to serve ten years each on a joint charge of robbery. John Sideris, of 205 John Marshall place northwest, complained that these defendants had robbed him of $68 on February 28. William Bell, alias Blue Steel, colored, was also sentenced to serve ten years. He was charged with having attacked James H. Gross, 520 Groffs court northeast with a pistol on December 14.

BILL FOR NEW BOTANIC GARDENS ASKS $820,000

Fess Introduces Measure in Senate; Gives Library Body Purchase Power.

EXPERTS' AID IS SOUGHT

An appropriation of $820,000, to be paid out of the United States Treasury, was provided in a bill introduced in the Senate yesterday by Senator Fess, of Ohio, to provide for acquirement of land for a new location for the United States Botanic gardens.

The bill provides that the land shall be acquired by the joint committee on the library "by purchase, condemnation or otherwise." The committee would also determine where the Bartholdi fountain in the present garden would be placed in the new garden.

The bill carries out the plan for abandonment of the portion of the existing garden lying between Pennsylvania avenue and Maryland avenue. This ground would be used for extension of the Mall, in accordance with the McMillan plan.

The part of the garden now lying south of Maryland avenue would be kept and two squares adjoining it would be added. These squares lie between First and Second streets, B street and Maryland avenue, and First and Second streets, B and Canal streets.

Aid of government experts, including George W. Hess, head of the Botanic gardens, and others would be sought in drafting plans for new conservatories and other buildings. These plans would be incorporated in a report to Congress from the joint committee on the library, to be submitted before the end of the next session of the present Congress.

ARTS BODY URGES PLAN FOR WIDENING CONNECTICUT AVE.

Tells District Commissioners Varying Widths Should Be Avoided.

LIKE WORK SUGGESTED FOR SEVENTEENTH ST.

Strong Loading Platforms on Former Thoroughfare Considered Necessary.

The fine arts commission's opinion that a plan for the widening of Connecticut avenue from H street to Florida avenue should be prepared was made known to the District commissioners yesterday.

Chairman Charles Moore of the commission said that as the change in the character of this street progresses and buildings come into commercial occupation, arrangements should be made for widening it at that time, instead of having three different widths of Connecticut avenue at the same time between points named. He further suggested that plans also be made now for widening of Seventeenth street, from Pennsylvania avenue to Connecticut avenue.

The consideration of loading platforms on Connecticut avenue and the space necessarily occupied by them in that thoroughfare brought up the question of widening the avenue.

Strong Platforms Wanted.

Regarding the platforms, it is stated that a strong end is necessary to them for protection of the people occupying them. The commission has therefore recommended that the platforms have stout granite posts.

Whether the post shall carry warning lights, it believes is a matter for the traffic department to determine. Chairman Moore says that platforms so constructed will not interfere with the appearance of the street. The commission, however, suggests that the flashing lights will create a disturbance which should not be permitted.
